U.S., Nationalists Confer On Reds' Cease-Fire Offer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Nationalist China were reported consulting today on a response to Communist China's announcement of a limited cease-fire in the Formosa area.

Wary U.S. officials privately expressed delight the Reds broke the momentum of their massive artillery assault on Nationalist Quemoy. But none would predict whether the cease-fire would open the way for a permanent settlement.

The Red Chinese cited "humanitarian considerations" in announcing a seven-day halt to the artillery fire that has battered Quemoy since Aug. 23. They invited the Nationalist Chinese to send fresh supplies to the offshore island, but specified the shipments must be made without U.S. convoys.

They called also for direct peace talks between the two Chinese factions, but advised the Nationalists to beware of Americans.

At about the same time, Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev declared Russia would intervene only if the United States were to attack Red China.

On two points, at least, it appeared that Communist conditions for a cease-fire would be met:

1. With a cessation of Red attacks, officials said, there would be no need for U.S. convoying of Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy.

2. And with the halting of Red attacks there would seem to be no occasion for Nationalist counterfire. But U.S. officials said technically, at least, this decision would be up to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek and his advisers.

The Red maneuvers were expected to get careful study from President Eisenhower and his top advisers. Secretary of State Dulles is due here Tuesday from his island retreat in Lake Ontario.

Nationalist Chinese reaction at Taipei was blunt and pessimistic. A Nationalist spokesman told newsmen there the Communist cease-fire announcement was "a propaganda stunt" adding up to "an admission of Communist failure to blockade Quemoy effectively."

It was doubted the Nationalists would have any interest in direct negotiation with the Chinese Communist regime. Officials of the Taipei government said recently that such negotiations in the past had never produced any real agreement.

Eisenhower and Dulles might also consider such direct negotiations undesirable. Many officials were reported to feel that the actual Communist aim is to drive a wedge between Taipei and Washington. Since the United States has no intention of abandoning Formosa, any maneuver that clearly has that purpose will be rejected.

State Department experts said it was significant that the Peiping announcement on suspension of hostilities reiterated Red China's basic position that the United States must withdraw its forces from the Formosa area. They said the Reds do not give any indication of moderating their policies as concerns the Formosa problem.

Quemoy Gets Supplies With Help Of U.S.

Red China Bares 7-Day Cease-Fire If U.S. Stops Escort

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Red China's guns remained silent today while a big American-escorted convoy unloaded supplies at Quemoy.

Peiping announced a seven-day cease-fire, effective Sunday midnight, on the condition that the United States stop escorting Nationalist Chinese convoys to the embattled island.

The cease-fire order was coupled with a call to Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek to negotiate directly on a settlement over Formosa and the offshore islands.

Chiang, in an interview with Cecil Brown of NBC, rejected any such direct negotiations with the Communists. He said the Peiping announcement was a "trick and deception," and he hoped the United States would continue to escort Nationalist supply convoys with its 7th Fleet warships.

Sampson Shen, Chiang's information director, declared the purpose of Peiping's order was to create a split between Taipei and Washington—and a split appeared to have been the result in the first reaction of officials in the two capitals.

Shen declared the Nationalists distrusted the Communist cease-fire and would ignore it. He said there would be no withdrawal of the Nationalist request for American escorts.

Washington officials, however, privately expressed their delight even at the limited and conditional cease-fire. Washington reports said a rejection of Peiping's announcement was out of the question. These reports pointed out that with a cease-fire the reason for American escorts ceased to exist.

Both President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have emphasized the central policy of getting a cease-fire in Formosa Strait and of not bowing to force.

In Washington, a link was seen between Peiping's order and a sharp statement by Soviet Premier Khrushchev Sunday declaring the Soviet Union would not be drawn into an all-Chinese war on the side of Red China unless the United States attacked the Communist regime. As Washington saw it, Khrushchev was tugging Peiping back from the brink.

High-ranking Nationalist and American officers met to consider the new situation.

Ohio Valley Gets First Visible Frost Of Fall

The first visible frost of autumn coated car tops and exposed hillsides in the Ohio Valley early today as temperatures fell to the lowest mark since last winter.

Rural areas had frost twice last week but the valley, protected by the warm river, had escaped until this morning. Dam 8 said the mercury dipped to 35 degrees at 7 a. m. — 3 above freezing — for the overnight low. The high the past 24 hours was the chilly 58 at 10 a. m. Sunday. The mercury fell steadily yesterday, reaching 39 at midnight.

Tonight will not be quite so cool with a low of 45 to 50 forecast. The day's high range will be 62 to 66. Tuesday will be fair and warmer.

Pilot Plans Stratosphere Trip Tuesday

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A young jet pilot plans a leisurely balloon journey to the stratosphere Tuesday. He wants to see if he can help man take the vital step over that high threshold into space.

Lt. Clifton McClure will make the jaunt in a capsule which looks like a giant version of one of those the doctor prescribes. This sealed metal container is a replica of the cockpit in which man eventually may soar into space in a rocket.

McClure, 25, of Anderson, S.C., will wedge himself into the midst of a myriad of instruments for a ride to about 100,000 feet—roughly 20 miles—for a day-night stay.

He hopes, by this solitary feat, to further the Air Force's careful study of how nature treats man close to the edge of space. He hopes to learn more about what man needs to have with him and know in order to survive there—and eventually in space.

He'll be nearing the eternal darkness of outer space, the region of intense radiation, the region where man's comfortable feeling of gravity is gone, the region where . . . who knows? That is what he hopes to learn more about.

3 Boys Jailed For Burglary

Car License Number Leads To Suspects

Two East Liverpool district boys and a third from Lisbon were taken into custody Sunday by city police, charged with a burglary early yesterday morning at the home of South Side American Legion Post 952 on Route 168 between Georgetown and Laughlins Corners.

Police said the three youths have admitted the burglary and are being held for Juvenile Probation Officer Chris Pusey. The boys led police to the place where the loot was hidden. It includes $2.19 in pennies, three fifths of whisky, several bottles of beer and ale and some potato chips and pretzels.

The suspects are an East Liverpool boy, 16, and a youth from the Sub-station and a Lisbon boy, both 17. They were arrested by Capt. Robert Pyle and Patrolman William Devon. Police said all three have previous juvenile records for burglary.

The fact that the boys' auto stalled on the parking lot outside the Legion home led to their arrest. A Legion member told police he found the three in a stalled auto when he left the post home about 3 Sunday morning after cleaning the hall following a dance.

He said he gave their auto a push with his car to get it started. But, suspicious of three youths out so late, he wrote down the license number. The boys admitted they burglarized the place about an hour after the dance cleanup crew left, police said.

After the burglary was discovered, the Legion member turned over the license number to police. They traced the auto to the local youth, who admitted the theft and implicated the two others, police said.

After helping start the boys' car, the Legion member returned and checked around the building, but found nothing amiss. The boys later told police they drove around for about a half hour before the burglary, expecting that the Legionnaire would be suspicious of their presence.

U.S. Lawyers Fight Private Schools Plan

Go To Federal Court To Demand Block Of Segregation Move

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Federal attorneys come before three judges of the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals today to demand a permanent block against the maneuver to transform Little Rock's schools into private institutions, barred to Negroes.

This is the newest action in the long struggle between the U.S. government, Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas, and that state's segregationist forces.

In a 25-page brief, U.S. attorneys emphasized two major points:

1. "The persistent and resourceful schemes which have been devised for evading the decrees of the federal courts enforcing those rights" (to go to public school).

2. "Little Rock has become the testing ground of the rule of law and the capacity of the judicial process to give real meaning and effect to constitutional rights."

They said if Central High in Little Rock is allowed to reopen on a segregated basis, "the harmful effects both to the children nad to the country could in no way be undone by the courts."

The judges have been asked to make permament a temporary order, issued by a federal court in Omaha last Monday, forbidding the leasing of Little Rock schools to a private organization which proposes to operate them, with state funds, as private, segregated schools.

Pending the result of today's hearing, the Little Rock Private School Corp. is going ahead, looking for money, teachers, and buildings. Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation, says the private school system will open within the next few days if the Circuit Court hands down the permanent injunction today.

No briefs or intervening pleadings had been filed by attorneys for the Little Rock corporation or the city's School Board.

Raney contended in Little Rock last week, "We firmly believe that any interference with our lease of the high school buildings is illegal and constitutes further usurpation of the right of the state of Arkansas and the Little Rock school district to exercise the right of ownership over their properties."

But the government brief said a permanent injunction "is vitally necessary to maintain the supremacy of the federal judicial process against challenge's by officials of the state of Arkansas." It added:

"Negro children have suffered long enough."

Fire Razes Unity Home; Elderly Man Singed

EAST PALESTINE — The small farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mollenkopf of near Unity was destroyed by a flash fire late this morning after an oil stove apparently exploded as she was heating water.

The flames spread quickly, singeing Mollenkopf and burning telephone wires so that firemen could not be summoned. His wife was heating water about 11:20 a. m. when the stove flared out. She was unhurt. City firemen said the frame home — about a half mile east of Unity — was a total loss.

3 Explosions Rip Clinton Classrooms

Integrated School's Head Says Classes To Resume Tuesday

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The principal of integrated Clinton High School, which was wrecked Sunday by three bombs expertly set off in early morning fog, said today classes will be resumed Tuesday.

W. D. Human said classes will be held in the undamaged gymnasium, the National Gurad Armory and church school facilities until Thursday. After that, he added, the entire student body of 850 white and 11 Negro pupils will be transported by bus to a vacant school building in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eight Negro girls, five of them walking from their homes here and three others arriving from rural areas by bus, were seen entering the gymnasium for today's student assembly.

Officials tentatively estimated damage to the bombed building at $300,000. The rambling brick structure was built in 1927. Sixteen of its 20 classrooms were reduced to rubble by the explosions.

Clinton, a town of 4,000 population, is 20 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Five Anderson County officials flew to Nashville Sunday to confer with Gov. Frank Clement, who promised them the fullest state aid in continuing classes and solving the bombing.

Agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Identification and the FBI arrived in Clinton to investigate. Two bits of spent fuse were picked up for laboratory tests, but no other clues were reported.

Clinton police, who could see nothing through the predawn fog at the school across the street from the police station, said the blasts went off with precise three-minute timing at 4:21, 4:24 and 4:27 a. m.

The explosives were placed within the school. This was in contrast to other recent Southern bombings—Hattie Cotton School in Nashville last September, and Jewish centers in Nashville, Miami and Jacksonville last spring—where the explosives were set outside the buildings or in entranceways.

Walter Bearden, TBI agent from Knoxville, said one blast was set off in the boiler room, demolishing it and an entranceway leading to the separate gymnasium, and wrecking an adjoining science room.

Another charge tore out a wall in the center of the building, wrecked several classrooms and hurled debris into the school auditorium.

The third ripped out another end of the building.

OFFICIALS EXAMINE the shell of Clinton (Tenn.) High School which was bombed Sunday. Federal and state investigators today started searching for clues as makeshift classrooms were being arranged for students of the 20-room school which was virtually demolished by three rapid-fire explosions. The school was integrated in 1956 and officials believe the bombing stems from objection to racial mixing. (UPI Telephoto)

Ohio Traffic Fatal To 21 On Weekend

3 Pedestrians Die, 3 Others Killed In Two-Car Collision

By The Associated Press

A car figured in almost every accidental death last weekend, and the sudden increase in traffic-connected fatalities brought an appeal from the state director of highway safety.

Of 23 persons who died in accidents between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday, all but two were inside or in the vicinity of a car.

Contacted in Toledo, Ohio's director of highway safety, Gordon Jeffery, told The Associated Press:

"Without analyzing them in detail, I cannot explain these high fatality figures.

"However, they prove to us something we have been saying a long time—that every weekend, every day is like a holiday. We must maintain strong enforcement and individual alert diligence in our driving.

In the long run, our traffic accident picture has been bright all year. I hope and have confidence that it will so continue."

Gov. C. William O'Neill saw one fatal crash. He was an honored guest at New Bremen (Auglaize County) Speedway for the featured Governor's Race Sunday

2 Men Jailed, 3rd Sought In $500 Robbery

Two East Liverpool district men were jailed over the weekend and a third still is sought in connection with the $500 strongarm robbery of a Chester man last July 18.

Ray Junior Hess of Kountz Ave. and William Drumm Jr. of Chester R. D. were taken into custody on charges of taking the money "by force or violence" from Clyde Finley of Box 81, Chester, after he had been taken in a car to an isolated rural area near Glenmoor.

Police said a fugitive warrant will be issued for the third suspect, identified as Bobby Higgins of Shadyside Ave. Investigation showed Higgins fled from the city, officers said.

Hess was held for Grand Jury action under $500 bond when he pleaded guilty to the charge this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp. Drumm pleaded not guilty and requested a preliminary hearing, which was set for Tuesday at 9 a. m. He is represented by Atty. George A. Aronson.

Finley told police he was robbed of $500 which he had brought to East Liverpool, expecting to buy a used car. He said he met Drumm and Higgins in the Diamond Restaurant. The three went to a parked car, which had Hess at the wheel, he related.

The three took Finley to a drag race strip off Route 267 near Glenmoor. According to Finley, Drumm and Higgins got out of the car with Finley while Hess remained at the wheel. In a short time, Drumm and Higgins returned, jumped into the car and said: "Let's get out of here." They drove to the home of Hess, where the money was divided, according to statements given police.

Hess was taken into custody Sunday by Chief Americo Radeschi, Harold J[illegible]nau, a state parole officer, and Patrolman Thomas Walker of the Special Service Bureau. A few hours later, Drumm was arrested.

The car used in the robbery was owned by Hess' wife, but later it was sold to Higgins for $100 or $125, officers said.

Blaze At Wellsville Causes $3,000 Loss

An estimated $3,000 damage resulted from a fire in a large garage-storage building at the rear of 423 Main St., Wellsville, Sunday at 1:55 p. m. (EST).

The heavy damage was to the rafters and floor joists, firemen said. It apparently was started by children playing in the building.

Earl Ewing of Painesville is the owner. The only thing stored in the garage was some new empty cans, firemen said.

11,478 Now Qualified For City Balloting

Official Count Made By Election Board In Recent Registration

East Liverpool has 11,478 voters qualified for the Nov. 4 general election, the County Election Board said today after completing an official count following the Sept. 24 registration deadline.

The new total represents a gain of 1,748 from the 9,730 shown on Jan. 1 — the largest gain in such a period since 1940 — Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, commented. There was a gain of 1,505 from the 9,973 qualified for the May primaries, he added.

The new totals show the First Ward with 2,629 electors; the Second, 3,661; the Third, 2,008, and the Fourth, 3,100. The official count was completed when the board finished the annual job of compiling and printing precinct registers—an alphabetical listing of all qualified voters by precincts.

The job was completed in six working days. The board's staff was supplemented by four students from Ohio Valley Business College, who aided in cutting stencils and operating a rotary duplicating machine. The work was completed two weeks ahead of the Oct. 20 deadline set by state law.

The names of 76 voters were dropped from the Sept. 24 total because of duplication, deaths or removals from the city, O'Hanlon explained. The tentative total at the registration deadline was 11,554.

Here are the new voter totals by precincts: First Ward: A, 537; B, 455; C, 289; D, 469; E, 364; F, 229, and G, 286. Second: A, 448, B, 496; C, 407; D, 418; E, 463; F, 274; G, 268; H, 307; I, 296, and J, 284.

Third Ward: A, 258; B, 357; C, 377; D, 406; E, 236; F, 170, and G, 281. Fourth Ward: A, 380; B, 454; C, 294; D, 293; E, 417; F, 259; G, 351, and H, 372.

Meanwhile, issuance of civilian disabled and absentee voters' ballots began officially over the weekend. Sixteen civilian absentees were issued ballots, but no applications were received from disabled electors.

10th Tropical Storm Sweeps Across Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The season's 10th tropical storm swept across Cuba during the night and headed toward the western Bahamas.

The storm center will pass well to the east of the southeast Florida coast, Weather Bureau forecasters said.

Pontiff, 82, Paralyzed, Report Says

Specialist Called; Physician Says All 'In God's Hands'

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII suffered a stroke today. The life of the 82-year-old pontiff hung in the balance at his summer residence here.

"All is in the hands of God," a physician reported from his bedside.

The Pope's great stamina, which brought him through a grave illness in 1954, asserted itself again.

Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state, visited the Pope a few hours after the stroke and reported a slight improvement in his condition. He emphasized, however, that his condition continued grave.

Informants at the press office in Vatican City said Extreme Unction, the church's last rites for the dying, had been given the Pope. Here at Castel Gandolfo Msgr. dell'Acqua said that to his knowledge Extreme Unction had not been given.

The Pope weakened suddenly during the night after showing improvement from an attack of gastritis, complicated by hiccups. The hiccups that had bothered him for several days vanished.

Then at 8:30 a.m. he suffered a circulatory cerebral attack, a bulletin from his physicians reported.

Unofficial sources said the Pope was paralyzed and could not be moved from his summer palace to Vatican City, where facilities for treatment are better.

Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, a specialist from Bologna, was called to the Pope's bedside. This underscored the gravity of the condition of the spiritual ruler of nearly half a billion Catholics.

At about noon, according to unofficial reports, the Pope roused briefly from his coma, opened his eyes and murmured a few words.

The pontiff's immediate family, including his nephews and nieces, were ushered to an antechamber of the pontiff's bedroom.

This was the second serious illness in four years for the pontiff.

News of the latest illness came in the 19th year of the Pope's reign. It halted all administrative activity of the church at the Vatican.

Vatican sources said death might come swiftly or the condition could continue for a long time. In the event of long incapacity, cardinals of the church stationed in Rome would take over many of the duties.

The Pope became ill after carrying on a heavy load of work and daily audiences at this summer residence outside Rome.

Four years ago he was forced to a long confinement after recovering from a grave illness.

He was born Eugenio Pacelli in Rome March 2, 1876. He was created a cardinal in 1929 and elected Pope March 2, 1939.

Special Prayers Set At Wellsville Service

Fr. William Lawler said special prayers on behalf of the Holy Father will be offered at novena services tonight at 7:30 (EST) in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Wellsville.

Diocesan instructions were awaited in other Catholic parishes.

St. Aloysius Catholic Church and St. Ann Catholic Church in East End had no special Masses set, according to Fr. Robert Moorhead and Fr. Arthur Nist.

Fr. Robert P. Garland, assistant priest at the Presentation Catholic Church in Midland, said there had been no instructions so far from the Pittsburgh Diocese.

More Polio In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Six more polio cases were reported in Detroit over the weekend, boosting the city's total polio caseload for the year to 529 and 16 deaths. Three of the new cases were paralytic. At this time last year, Detroit had 170 cases and two deaths.

Tops Skate's 31-Day Mark

Seawolf To Surface After Being Submerged 60 Days

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The 118 crewmen of the atomic submarine Seawolf come up from the Atlantic today for their first look at sunlight in 60 days.

The submarine was due to surface 40 miles at sea.

The Seawolf will break a record set last May by her sister atomic ship, Skate, which submerged 31 days 5½ hours.

The Seawolf's exploit may help to answer such questions as: Can man endure such an extended period without contact with the atmosphere? How long would he do so? Is it practical for a submarine to act as a semipermanent underwater missile launching station? What problems remain to be solved?

The answers could have impact on space travel as well as military planning.

How do men react to their fellows in such circumstances? Psychologists will be interested.

A parade and reception are planned after the welcoming ceremonies today.

The Seawolf is a home town product, put together in Groton at the General Dynamics Corp.'s Electric Boat Division as the nation's second-born nuclear-powered submarine.

After the ceremonies are over and a couple of months pass, the Seawolf has another big date. She goes into drydock in December to change her reactor system to that of pressurized water, like those of other atomic subs. She now uses a liquid sodium system and, endurance record or not, it isn't as effective.

In a 25-page brief, U.S. attorneys emphasized two major points:

1. "The persistent and resourceful schemes which have been devised for evading the decrees of the federal courts enforcing those rights" (to go to public school).

2. "Little Rock has become the testing ground of the rule of law and the capacity of the judicial process to give real meaning and effect to constitutional rights."

They said if Central High in Little Rock is allowed to reopen on a segregated basis, "the harmful effects both to the children nad to the country could in no way be undone by the courts."

The judges have been asked to make permament a temporary order, issued by a federal court in Omaha last Monday, forbidding the leasing of Little Rock schools to a private organization which proposes to operate them, with state funds, as private, segregated schools.

Pending the result of today's hearing, the Little Rock Private School Corp. is going ahead, looking for money, teachers, and buildings. Dr. T. J. Raney, president of the corporation, says the private school system will open within the next few days if the Circuit Court hands down the permanent injunction today.

No briefs or intervening pleadings had been filed by attorneys for the Little Rock corporation or the city's School Board.

Raney contended in Little Rock last week, "We firmly believe that any interference with our lease of the high school buildings is illegal and constitutes further usurpation of the right of the state of Arkansas and the Little Rock school district to exercise the right of ownership over their properties."

But the government brief said a permanent injunction "is vitally necessary to maintain the supremacy of the federal judicial process against challenge's by officials of the state of Arkansas." It added:

"Negro children have suffered long enough."

Fire Razes Unity Home; Elderly Man Singed

EAST PALESTINE — The small farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mollenkopf of near Unity was destroyed by a flash fire late this morning after an oil stove apparently exploded as she was heating water.

The flames spread quickly, singeing Mollenkopf and burning telephone wires so that firemen could not be summoned. His wife was heating water about 11:20 a. m. when the stove flared out. She was unhurt. City firemen said the frame home — about a half mile east of Unity — was a total loss.

3 Explosions Rip Clinton Classrooms

Integrated School's Head Says Classes To Resume Tuesday

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The principal of integrated Clinton High School, which was wrecked Sunday by three bombs expertly set off in early morning fog, said today classes will be resumed Tuesday.

W. D. Human said classes will be held in the undamaged gymnasium, the National Gurad Armory and church school facilities until Thursday. After that, he added, the entire student body of 850 white and 11 Negro pupils will be transported by bus to a vacant school building in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eight Negro girls, five of them walking from their homes here and three others arriving from rural areas by bus, were seen entering the gymnasium for today's student assembly.

Officials tentatively estimated damage to the bombed building at $300,000. The rambling brick structure was built in 1927. Sixteen of its 20 classrooms were reduced to rubble by the explosions.

Clinton, a town of 4,000 population, is 20 miles northwest of Knoxville.

Five Anderson County officials flew to Nashville Sunday to confer with Gov. Frank Clement, who promised them the fullest state aid in continuing classes and solving the bombing.

Agents of the Tennessee Bureau of Identification and the FBI arrived in Clinton to investigate. Two bits of spent fuse were picked up for laboratory tests, but no other clues were reported.

Clinton police, who could see nothing through the predawn fog at the school across the street from the police station, said the blasts went off with precise three-minute timing at 4:21, 4:24 and 4:27 a. m.

The explosives were placed within the school. This was in contrast to other recent Southern bombings—Hattie Cotton School in Nashville last September, and Jewish centers in Nashville, Miami and Jacksonville last spring—where the explosives were set outside the buildings or in entranceways.

Walter Bearden, TBI agent from Knoxville, said one blast was set off in the boiler room, demolishing it and an entranceway leading to the separate gymnasium, and wrecking an adjoining science room.

Another charge tore out a wall in the center of the building, wrecked several classrooms and hurled debris into the school auditorium.

The third ripped out another end of the building.

OFFICIALS EXAMINE the shell of Clinton (Tenn.) High School which was bombed Sunday. Federal and state investigators today started searching for clues as makeshift classrooms were being arranged for students of the 20-room school which was virtually demolished by three rapid-fire explosions. The school was integrated in 1956 and officials believe the bombing stems from objection to racial mixing. (UPI Telephoto)

Ohio Traffic Fatal To 21 On Weekend

3 Pedestrians Die, 3 Others Killed In Two-Car Collision

By The Associated Press

A car figured in almost every accidental death last weekend, and the sudden increase in traffic-connected fatalities brought an appeal from the state director of highway safety.

Of 23 persons who died in accidents between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday, all but two were inside or in the vicinity of a car.

Contacted in Toledo, Ohio's director of highway safety, Gordon Jeffery, told The Associated Press:

"Without analyzing them in detail, I cannot explain these high fatality figures.

"However, they prove to us something we have been saying a long time—that every weekend, every day is like a holiday. We must maintain strong enforcement and individual alert diligence in our driving.

In the long run, our traffic accident picture has been bright all year. I hope and have confidence that it will so continue."

Gov. C. William O'Neill saw one fatal crash. He was an honored guest at New Bremen (Auglaize County) Speedway for the featured Governor's Race Sunday

2 Men Jailed, 3rd Sought In $500 Robbery

Two East Liverpool district men were jailed over the weekend and a third still is sought in connection with the $500 strongarm robbery of a Chester man last July 18.

Ray Junior Hess of Kountz Ave. and William Drumm Jr. of Chester R. D. were taken into custody on charges of taking the money "by force or violence" from Clyde Finley of Box 81, Chester, after he had been taken in a car to an isolated rural area near Glenmoor.

Police said a fugitive warrant will be issued for the third suspect, identified as Bobby Higgins of Shadyside Ave. Investigation showed Higgins fled from the city, officers said.

Hess was held for Grand Jury action under $500 bond when he pleaded guilty to the charge this morning before Acting Municipal Judge Robert A. Kapp. Drumm pleaded not guilty and requested a preliminary hearing, which was set for Tuesday at 9 a. m. He is represented by Atty. George A. Aronson.

Finley told police he was robbed of $500 which he had brought to East Liverpool, expecting to buy a used car. He said he met Drumm and Higgins in the Diamond Restaurant. The three went to a parked car, which had Hess at the wheel, he related.

The three took Finley to a drag race strip off Route 267 near Glenmoor. According to Finley, Drumm and Higgins got out of the car with Finley while Hess remained at the wheel. In a short time, Drumm and Higgins returned, jumped into the car and said: "Let's get out of here." They drove to the home of Hess, where the money was divided, according to statements given police.

Hess was taken into custody Sunday by Chief Americo Radeschi, Harold J. Nau, a state parole officer, and Patrolman Thomas Walker of the Special Service Bureau. A few hours later, Drumm was arrested.

The car used in the robbery was owned by Hess' wife, but later it was sold to Higgins for $100 or $125, officers said.

Blaze At Wellsville Causes $3,000 Loss

An estimated $3,000 damage resulted from a fire in a large garage-storage building at the rear of 423 Main St., Wellsville, Sunday at 1:55 p. m. (EST).

The heavy damage was to the rafters and floor joists, firemen said. It apparently was started by children playing in the building.

Earl Ewing of Painesville is the owner. The only thing stored in the garage was some new empty cans, firemen said.

11,478 Now Qualified For City Balloting

Official Count Made By Election Board In Recent Registration

East Liverpool has 11,478 voters qualified for the Nov. 4 general election, the County Election Board said today after completing an official count following the Sept. 24 registration deadline.

The new total represents a gain of 1,748 from the 9,730 shown on Jan. 1 — the largest gain in such a period since 1940 — Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, commented. There was a gain of 1,505 from the 9,973 qualified for the May primaries, he added.

The new totals show the First Ward with 2,629 electors; the Second, 3,661; the Third, 2,008, and the Fourth, 3,100. The official count was completed when the board finished the annual job of compiling and printing precinct registers—an alphabetical listing of all qualified voters by precincts.

The job was completed in six working days. The board's staff was supplemented by four students from Ohio Valley Business College, who aided in cutting stencils and operating a rotary duplicating machine. The work was completed two weeks ahead of the Oct. 20 deadline set by state law.

The names of 76 voters were dropped from the Sept. 24 total because of duplication, deaths or removals from the city, O'Hanlon explained. The tentative total at the registration deadline was 11,554.

Here are the new voter totals by precincts: First Ward: A, 537; B, 455; C, 289; D, 469; E, 364; F, 229, and G, 286. Second: A, 448, B, 496; C, 407; D, 418; E, 463; F, 274; G, 268; H, 307; I, 296, and J, 284.

Third Ward: A, 258; B, 357; C, 377; D, 406; E, 236; F, 170, and G, 281. Fourth Ward: A, 380; B, 454; C, 294; D, 293; E, 417; F, 259; G, 351, and H, 372.

Meanwhile, issuance of civilian disabled and absentee voters' ballots began officially over the weekend. Sixteen civilian absentees were issued ballots, but no applications were received from disabled electors.

10th Tropical Storm Sweeps Across Cuba

Seawolf To Surface After Being Submerged 60 Days

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—The 118 crewmen of the atomic submarine Seawolf come up from the Atlantic today for their first look at sunlight in 60 days.

The submarine was due to surface 40 miles at sea.

The Seawolf will break a record set last May by her sister atomic ship, Skate, which submerged 31 days 5½ hours.

The Seawolf's exploit may help to answer such questions as: Can man endure such an extended period without contact with the atmosphere? How long would he do so? Is it practical for a submarine to act as a semipermanent underwater missile launching station? What problems remain to be solved?

The answers could have impact on space travel as well as military planning.

How do men react to their fellows in such circumstances? Psychologists will be interested.

A parade and reception are planned after the welcoming ceremonies today.

The Seawolf is a home town product, put together in Groton at the General Dynamics Corp.'s Electric Boat Division as the nation's second-born nuclear-powered submarine.

After the ceremonies are over and a couple of months pass, the Seawolf has another big date. She goes into drydock in December to change her reactor system to that of pressurized water, like those of other atomic subs. She now uses a liquid sodium system and, endurance record or not, it isn't as effective.

Pontiff, 82, Paralyzed, Report Says

Specialist Called; Physician Says All 'In God's Hands'

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII suffered a stroke today. The life of the 82-year-old pontiff hung in the balance at his summer residence here.

"All is in the hands of God," a physician reported from his bedside.

The Pope's great stamina, which brought him through a grave illness in 1954, asserted itself again.

Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua, substitute secretary of state, visited the Pope a few hours after the stroke and reported a slight improvement in his condition. He emphasized, however, that his condition continued grave.

Informants at the press office in Vatican City said Extreme Unction, the church's last rites for the dying, had been given the Pope. Here at Castel Gandolfo Msgr. dell'Acqua said that to his knowledge Extreme Unction had not been given.

The Pope weakened suddenly during the night after showing improvement from an attack of gastritis, complicated by hiccups. The hiccups that had bothered him for several days vanished.

Then at 8:30 a.m. he suffered a circulatory cerebral attack, a bulletin from his physicians reported.

Unofficial sources said the Pope was paralyzed and could not be moved from his summer palace to Vatican City, where facilities for treatment are better.

Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, a specialist from Bologna, was called to the Pope's bedside. This underscored the gravity of the condition of the spiritual ruler of nearly half a billion Catholics.

At about noon, according to unofficial reports, the Pope roused briefly from his coma, opened his eyes and murmured a few words.

The pontiff's immediate family, including his nephews and nieces, were ushered to an antechamber of the pontiff's bedroom.

This was the second serious illness in four years for the pontiff.

News of the latest illness came in the 19th year of the Pope's reign. It halted all administrative activity of the church at the Vatican.

Vatican sources said death might come swiftly or the condition could continue for a long time. In the event of long incapacity, cardinals of the church stationed in Rome would take over many of the duties.

The Pope became ill after carrying on a heavy load of work and daily audiences at this summer residence outside Rome.

Four years ago he was forced to a long confinement after recovering from a grave illness.

He was born Eugenio Pacelli in Rome March 2, 1876. He was created a cardinal in 1929 and elected Pope March 2, 1939.

Special Prayers Set At Wellsville Service

Fr. William Lawler said special prayers on behalf of the Holy Father will be offered at novena services tonight at 7:30 (EST) in the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church at Wellsville.

Diocesan instructions were awaited in other Catholic parishes.

St. Aloysius Catholic Church and St. Ann Catholic Church in East End had no special Masses set, according to Fr. Robert Moorhead and Fr. Arthur Nist.

Fr. Robert P. Garland, assistant priest at the Presentation Catholic Church in Midland, said there had been no instructions so far from the Pittsburgh Diocese.

More Polio In Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Six more polio cases were reported in Detroit over the weekend, boosting the city's total polio caseload for the year to 529 and 16 deaths. Three of the new cases were paralytic. At this time last year, Detroit had 170 cases and two deaths.

A retired farmer, an 83-year-old man and a little girl were hit by cars and killed, and three persons in one car died in a two-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 134 and 28 in Clinton County Sunday.

The latter accident claimed a fourth victim who died Monday morning of injuries. This death, however, was not included in the over-all toll since it occurred after the weekend was over.

Two Ohioans were killed in auto accidents outside the state, which do not count in the Ohio weekend toll. Twenty - year - old Michael Kluska of Youngstown died with two other persons when a car hit a bridge pillar outside Cameron, Mo., Sunday, and John Ambrose Kilday, 50, of Hamilton was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control near Columbia City, Ind.

A Detroit woman died Sunday in an auto accident eight miles west of Port Clinton on Ohio 2, but her injuries appeared to be only cuts and a heart attack is suspected. Her death was not counted in the weekend toll. An autopsy is scheduled. She was Mrs. Eleanor Nellie Hurt, 58.

CD Handbooks To Be Distributed

Boy Scouts in Columbiana and Hancock Counties are scheduled to participate in the distribution of a Civil Defense publication, "Handbook for Emergencies," Saturday or early next week, Robert Beck, executive of the Columbiana Council, reported.

Throughout the nation the booklet will be distributed by over 4 million scouts in the biggest public service distribution ever undertaken. The objective is to provide every American home with a basic first aid reference and home preparation precautions in event of disaster or enemy attack.

The handbook, published by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, lists home shelter plans, Conelrad radio reception instructions, fallout protection, decontamination and radiological monitoring information and evacuation planning.

Civil Defense workers will aid the scouts who plan to place a book in every home in this district.

when William E. (Bud) Bell of Kalamazoo, Mich., driver of one of the modified stock cars, was killed in a crash in front of the grandstand.

A retired farmer, an 83-year-old man and a little girl were hit by cars and killed, and three persons in one car died in a two-car collision at the intersection of Ohio 134 and 28 in Clinton County Sunday.

The latter accident claimed a fourth victim who died Monday morning of injuries. This death, however, was not included in the over-all toll since it occurred after the weekend was over.

Two Ohioans were killed in auto accidents outside the state, which do not count in the Ohio weekend toll. Twenty - year - old Michael Kluska of Youngstown died with two other persons when a car hit a bridge pillar outside Cameron, Mo., Sunday, and John Ambrose Kilday, 50, of Hamilton was killed Saturday night when his car went out of control near Columbia City, Ind.

A Detroit woman died Sunday in an auto accident eight miles west of Port Clinton on Ohio 2, but her injuries appeared to be only cuts and a heart attack is suspected. Her death was not counted in the weekend toll. An autopsy is scheduled. She was Mrs. Eleanor Nellie Hurt, 58.

In an accident not connected with automobiles, John Gawenda of Cleveland died Saturday when the mattress on which he was lying burned.

The fatalities:

Friday night

Elisha Bledsoe, 83, Cuyahoga Falls, when he walked into the path of a car in that community.

William Creamer, 65, Lisbon, and Albert Ramsey, 35, East Liverpool, when their car collided with a trailer-truck, then went over a 50-foot embankment along Ohio 30 about 10 miles west of East Liverpool.

Mrs. Ellen Hersha, 25, Norwalk, when a car in which she was riding hit a tree in Norwalk.

Dale McMillen, 64, rural Richland County, struck by a car near Adario (Richland County).

Saturday

Dean Snodgrass, 19, Rt. 4, Greenville, Pa., when his car crashed into some trees off Ohio 88 a half-mile west of the Pennsylvania state line in Trumbull County while being pursued for speeding.

Cloyd Metzler, 52, Hamilton, when his car went off U.S. 127 and over an embankment.

Violet Bailey, 7, Rt. 1, Ava (Noble County), hit by a car on U.S. 21 in Coal Ridge (Noble County).

Richard B. Billups, 45, Toledo, when the car in which he was riding went off the Anthony Wayne Trail and fell 90 feet to a railroad right-of-way.

Mrs. Dena Washabaugh, 39, Dayton, when a car in which she was a passenger overturned off the Springboro Pike south of Dayton.

Mrs. Juana Serrano, 40, Rt. 1, Hartville (Stark County), a migratory worker from Puerto Rico, in a collision on Ohio 44 north of Alliance.

John Gawenda, age unknown, Cleveland, when a mattress on which he was lying in his apartment caught fire, apparently as a result of his smoking.

Rebecca Sue Tisher, 3, struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train near her home in Steubenville. The engineer, Charles Morgan, 61, said the child was sitting on the tracks.

Sunday

Jesse Larry Harris, 28, Cleveland, of injuries suffered when his car rolled over on an Ohio 14 curve near the Portage County line in Summit County.

A-3c Max G. Brenner, 19, Jacksonville, Fla., an Air Force enlisted man, when his car hit a bridge on U.S. 23 a half-mile south of South Bloomfield in Pickaway County.

John G. Ward Sr., 60, and Carey L. Quigley, 78, both of Dayton, and Mrs. Margaret Brown, 83, Springfield, all occupants of one of two cars which collided at the intersection of Ohio 134 and 28 near Martinsville in Clinton County.

Paul B. Pruden, 45, Convoy (Van Wert County), when his car went off a county road, hit a pole and went into a creek.

William E. (Bud) Bell, 28, Kalamazoo, Mich., in a crash of modified stock cars at New Bremen Speedway (Auglaize County).

George E. Brown, 55, Akron, in a collision at an intersection northwest of Akron.

CD Handbooks To Be Distributed

Boy Scouts in Columbiana and Hancock Counties are scheduled to participate in the distribution of a Civil Defense publication, "Handbook for Emergencies," Saturday or early next week, Robert Beck, executive of the Columbiana Council, reported.

Throughout the nation the booklet will be distributed by over 4 million scouts in the biggest public service distribution ever undertaken. The objective is to provide every American home with a basic first aid reference and home preparation precautions in event of disaster or enemy attack.

The handbook, published by the Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization, lists home shelter plans, Conelrad radio reception instructions, fallout protection, decontamination and radiological monitoring information and evacuation planning.

Civil Defense workers will aid the scouts who plan to place a book in every home in this district.

All They Can Count Is Votes

In four and a half weeks, the election that only recently seemed to be in the distant future will be over.

All the votes will have been counted.

There is nothing else to count, however.

Tally sheets have no place to record good intentions, high principles, red-hot resentment, or even grudging admiration.

Not even an automatic voting machine can provide a willing ear for a citizen too lazy to vote to explain why he was not on hand to pull the lever.

This is, in the judgment of a great many people who know their politics from A to Izzard, the sleeper in the 1958 election, which is going to be one of the key elections of recent years.

Here is why:

UNION POLITICIANS think they are within striking distance of winning domination over the Democratic party.

They are going all out in 1958 to assert their power in state legislatures and Congress, knowing if they can line up enough lawmakers in the states and in Washington they will have things pretty much their own way in 1960, in the presidential election.

They have the money from their well heeled treasuries to put on a political blitz. They have the organization to line up their voters and get them to the polls in unprecedented numbers. They have the national coordination through their tightly knit organizations to put their plans into widespread action. They have the advisers to tell them what to do and where to concentrate their efforts.

But the most valuable thing they have as the campaign turns into the homestretch is evidence that in many places they stand a good chance to win by default. The only thing that can keep them from running away with the election are the candidates of the Republican party to whom they are opposed nearly 100 per cent, and they are counting on many Republican candidates to lose because their votes didn't show up.

The only thing that can keep Republican candidates from being swamped at the polls is a turnout of voters who favor them that will offset the expected turnout of voters who have been conditioned to oppose them.

THIS IS WHY there needs to be a tremendous upsurge in Republican determination in states like Ohio, which have been marked out for special effort by the United States "Labor" party that is making its strongest bid for domination of the moribund "Democratic" party this year.

In many contests, bona fide Democrats are as deeply involved in the showdown as Republicans. In many areas, the Democratic party as such never will be heard of again if the union politicians are successful in taking over its role in the two-party system.

Perhaps there should be a new two-party system.

Perhaps it should be the Republican party vs. the Labor party in the United States. But good idea or not, it should not happen because of any default by the opposition. The people who are hoping to bring it about by concentrating on the 1958 election think they have both Republicans and old - line Democrats on the run.

The Price Of Reuther's Consent

There is a feeling of happy relief at the announcement from Detroit that Walter Reuther, chief of the United Auto Workers, has consented after prolonged negotiations to let the automobile industry go ahead with its production if 1959 models.

This means the vast complex of suppliers whose products are used by the auto industry can go ahead with their part in the production of new cars. It means that potential customers can turn their thoughts toward the decision to buy or not to buy and that distributors and dealers can begin to make firm plans for handling the business of what everybody hopes will be a comeback year for the automobile industry.

But in all this harmony of happy relief because the leadership of the strategically placed auto union has been persuaded to give his consent to the production plans for 1959 models there is a note that may prove to be sour.

The public price of Mr. Reuther's consent has not been announced.

All that has been revealed so far are the general terms of the agreements between the Big Three and the Big One — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler and the UAW.

Auto company accountants are now, presumably, figuring out the impact on the selling price of cars. As night follows day, price increases follow increases in production costs, unless the latter can be offset by improvements in productivity.

The price increases represent the amount of inflation produced by industrywide bargaining that makes all manufacturers toe the same line, regardless of the size of their feet, or their fleetness afoot, in the race for the buying power of consumers.

As against the old days when the aim was to build more and more cars for less and less cost — the miracle that was called "mass production" — the present-day aim seems to be to get more and more labor costs out of an ever-shrinking dollar.

This is not peculiar to the auto industry. It is happening in all industries. There has been a singular lack of anything that could be described as "economic statesmanship" on the part of people whose idea of good times is spiraling wage rates payable in declining dollars.

Salute To The BPW

A salute to the Business and Professional Women's Club which is participating in National Business Women's Week today through Saturday.

The local club has been promoting worthwhile civic projects for nearly 20 years—and doing a goid job of it.

Heading the list is the Child Health Clinic, which has functioned for 11 years. Projects adopted since September include awarding of a student nurse's scholarship, a get-out-the-vote campaign and distribution of leaflets to school children cautioning against "strangers." They go well with the impressive list already compiled by the organization over the years.

Extra tribute is due during this special week. Fortunately, however, members of the BPW do not confine their good work to but seven days of the year. They are on the go 52 weeks.

When the community calls, the BPW is ever ready to answer. It's an organization we are proud to have in our midst.

Not Just Economics

With the increasing industrialization and housing expansion in the upper Ohio River Valley, sportsmen and nature lovers alike constantly ponder the future of area forests and wildlife.

The leasing last week of a 1,000-acre woodland tract by the Kaul Clay Co. of Toronto to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources for a game preserve and hunting area marks another commendable move in the district's conservation plans.

It demonstrates that private industry is aligned with state efforts toward a broader wildlife program and that the development of the valley's resources is not confined to economics.

Executives of the Kaul firm show a generosity and foresight which is growing among other industry leaders, government officials and private citizens who have the welfare of this river valley at heart.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Lotteries and off-track betting on horses are being proposed in various American cities in a desperate fight to ease municipal debt problems and individual taxes. In New York a citizens' committee will study city-run horse parlors. We named our own committee. Transcript of opening session follows:

Chairman: Gentleman, two members are absent. It's too bad. I played 'em to show.

Secretary: I shall record them as late scratches.

Chairman: This is a very serious issue and I hope we are all in form. The big question is whether we should have trained for a sprint or for distance.

A member: This could even develop into a jumping event. I have been practicing over the hurdles since reading the views of Gov. Harriman and Nelson Rockefeller.

Chairman: Will Mr. Blank please put down that racing sheet and pay attention?

Mr. Blank: I am not reading it. I carry it together with an anti-off-track betting editorial in order to show my neutrality.

Chairman: Not a bad idea. Let us remember that the mayor has sent us to the post under heavy responsibility to the community.

First Member: Just what is the mayor's position?

Chairman: He's a rail runner but he seems to want the far outside this time. Personally I have a hunch off-track betting will win.

Third Member: What odds are you quoting?

Chairman (interrupted by two telegrams): Gentlemen, I have two wires from our two committeemen who didn't show up.

First Member: What happened?

Chairman: One broke down in stretch. The other came up lame.

BIG JACKPOT quiz shows may have to ask, "Do you want to quit now or turn honest next week?"

Consolidated Edison has taken out a loan of 100 million dollars. Remember when you assumed the only gas company worry was whether you were putting a quarter in the meter?

International Yacht race cocktail: One drink and you can't see anything. Then there's the sceptre flip: One sip and you're out of the picture.

A UNION AND AN AIRLINE have been in a hassle over whether airline women office workers and hostesses can be too glamorous. An office chick was dropped because of platinum blonde hair, her tight skirts, professional make-up, etc. The union forced reinstatement.

There's no doubt an extra glamorous babe can slow up office efficiency, but she can also give the joint a lift. (And in the airline business isn't a lift all important?)

There are platinum blondes who can stymie concentration on solid routines. But customers, especially males, are in no platinum blonde revolt. As for hostesses, yes and no. Beauty can be a peril. Surely "Fasten your belts" is not as effective from a Helen of Troy as from a Lizzie Borden.

Remember The Chinese Toys?

British Hold Conflicting Views

By David Lawrence

Will Great Britain now give up Hong Kong? This question is being asked among diplomats and officials because the British Labor party has been urging that Quemoy and Matsu be surrendered by the Chinese Nationalist government.

David Lawrence

The Crown Colony of Hong Kong includes part of the mainland of China itself, as well as two islands a mile off the coast. The whole area is 391 square miles. Only about 15,000 British citizens live there. The rest of the population of around 2,600,000 is Chinese. If the only guiding rule is that what "belongs to the mainland of China" shall be given to the Red China regime, then the case for the giving up of Hong Kong is much stronger than that claimed by the British Labor party leaders for taking away Quemoy and Matsu from the Nationalists.

The conservative government in Britain is doubtless not at all interested in giving up Hong Kong. Great Britain has many millions of dollars of trade with Hong Kong each year, and lately this has been booming.

From the point of view of military title, repossession of Hong Kong was obtained after World War II by Great Britain at about the same time that the Nationalist government recovered from Japanese rule the offshore island of Matsu and Quemoy.

THE HONG KONG colony is believed to be largely anti-Communist, and it would be tragic to deliver the freedom-loving Chinese of Hong Kong into the murderous hands of the Communists. But the British Labor party leaders may not be taking such factors into account, any more than they have appeared to be concerned with the plight of the more than 50,000 free Chinese who are residents of Quemoy and Matsu.

These two offshore islands have never in themselves had strategic value and do not have now. They are important militarily only if the Reds intend to carry their war into Formosa.

Nor is there any weakening of the position of Secretary Dulles, despite the misinterpretations placed on his remarks at his Tuesday press conference. He favors a partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu only if there is a "dependable ceasefire" in the entire area, including Formosa.

Since there is no sign that the Communists wish to agree to a cease fire, the question of partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu has been magnified out of all proportion to its real significance.

About all that Mr. Dulles' remarks were intended to do was to offset the erroneous impression that the United States is unwilling to negotiate for peace in the Far East.

It is in fact now negotiating at Warsaw, and for three years before has been negotiating with the Red Chinese ambassador at Geneva.

The Nationalist government of Formosa must naturally protest against the weakening of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu, but it seems certain of a ceasefire could be guaranteed against Formosa as well as the offshore islands, there would be less need for so many Nationalist troops on the islands.

There American position is that it is required by treaty to consult with the Nationalist government with respect to the defense of Formosa.

It is true the resolution passed by Congress in 1955 referred to the defense of Formosa and "related positions and territories."

It is begging the real question for ciritics to say that Congress did defend Quemoy and Matsu.

In reality, the State Department spelled out before congressional committees at the time that the only reason for inserting in the resolution a reference to the offshore islands was to make sure that our own military forces would not be handicapped if the communists started using the island as bases for an attack on Formosa.

If the British Labor party is so sure that giving up territory to the enemy by negotiation is the real way to prevent war, they might read over again what Winston Churchill wrote in his memoirs about the successive acts of appeasement by Britain in the 1930's which led Hitler to miscalculate and start a world war.

Unfortunately, as President Eisenhower pointed out last week, public opinion superficially demands concessions and then, when war is later provoked as a result of manifested weaknesses, there is a lot of hindsight as to what might better have been done.

Certainly a retreat while Quemoy and Matsu are under fire will be construed in the Communist and "neutralist" world as a backdown by the West.

What 'Good Old Days'?

By Frank Tripp

Almost anybody over 50 or so could write this column, about things that kids will never do again. It is addressed more to oldsters than to the young — to you who will remember "joys now denied our children." What were they?

They'll never see a mile - long circus parade, with rumbling golden wagons, cages of animals from many climes, hundreds of beautiful horses in 8- to 20-rein teams, bands, clowns, equestrians; nor hear the man on horseback warn, "Hold your horses, here come the elephants," or the shrieking coal-fired "steam piano" that marked the end of the gorgous pageant.

They'll never see a horsecar, many never a trolley, and it won't be long when none will know the majesty of the steam locomotive.

They'll never see a copper-tipped, red-top leather boot, a bootjack, a cast iron tea kettle, a hot water reservoir at the back of a wood chunk range, a wooden wash tub in mid-kitchen for the Saturday night bath.

THEY'LL NEVER see a school slate, a tin drinking cup on the end of a chain at the schoolyard pump; the red welt from a teacher's ruler across a hand that got into mischief.

Few, if any, will ever snuggle their best girl under a buffalo robe on a sleigh ride party, or get a kick out of "hopping bobs," a straw ride or that grand old party game, "post office."

They'll never know the joy — or value — of a penny, nor run a mile errand to earn one. It'll never be a treat to lick the ice cream dasher, or scoop the raw molasses batter out of mom's baking bowl.

They'll never club the trees for chestnuts at the first frost, or brown their skins like Indians with walnut husks.

They'll never crack the dawn with cannon on the Fourth, tip over a Chic Sale on Halloween—or know whether Santa is the guy with ivory whiskers and pink pajams in front of the hardware store or the skinny one chewing tobacco on the next corner.

The poor kids!

HOW MANY of these things would today's kids care to do or wish to see? I asked a few, and you'll not be surprised at their answers. The questions almost answer themselves for the new generation, young and old, regardless of age.

Sure, they'd like to see a genuine circus and its long parade; who wouldn't? They thought the Fourth of July cannon a swell idea; they'd like that.

When told what a Chic Sale is, they allowed it would be fun to tip one over. They could see no current osculatory advantage in the parlor game "post office"; just a crude, slow, hard way to kiss a girl. The buffalo robe idea seemed entirely unnecessary nowdays.

AS TO the rest of it, there was hardly even mild curiosity. More often it was disbelief that their elders either enjoyed or tolerated such things.

The attitude was one of pity for those who lived through the "good old days."

Which makes real sense to oldsters who will admit it. How many of us would settle for a horsecar, a wood chunk range, a mid-kitchen bath tub, knee-high leather boots, tin drinking cups—or run a mile for a penny?

I guess that "nostlagia is our least important product."

Hint To Peiping

Khrushchev Qualifies Soviet Stand

WASHINGTON

Nikita Khrushchev's remarkable one-question, one-answer interview Sunday has the look of an extremely important development in the Far East crisis.

The Soviet Premier and party boss called in the news agency Tass to tell the world Moscow has not the slightest intention of getting into the fight between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists on Formosa.

It is plainer than ever now that Moscow is worried by the Formosa crisis. And it is highly likely Khrushchev's words were meant particularly for the ears of the Chinese Communists.

These interviews do not come about by accident, or through the enterprise of some Soviet reporter. Tass is an instrument of Soviet policy. For all practical purposes, it is part of the Soviet Foreign Ministry. A statement like this, distributed by Tass, carries as much weight as a formal diplomatic note.

Khrushchev was obliged to use an oblique approach in his warning to Peiping. But he seemed anxious to leave the Red Chinese with no illusions regarding the extent to which Moscow is committed to help them militarily under the 1950 Sino-Soviet Treaty.

Khrushchev accomplished his purpose in this way: He quoted President Eisenhower's Wednesday news conference comment questioning Red China's calling the Formosa Strait shooting only a civil war. The President had said that if it was a civil war, he wanted to know why Khrushchev indicated the Soviet Union was ready to take part in it.

Khrushchev leaped to the opportunity. Acting the part of a man hitting the ceiling at the "tricks" of his antagonists, Khrushchev thundered that he never did say any such thing. What did he say, then?

In Khrushchev's own words, he has not given the slightest hint that the U.S.S.R. is ready to take part in a Chinese civil war. The U.S.S.R. would come to Red China's help only if the Red Chinese were attacked "from without," or "speaking more concretely, if the U.S.A. attacks the Chinese People's (Communist) Republic."

What goes on, says Khrushchev, is indeed a civil war, and thus an internal Chinese affair.

This spells it out for Peiping. If the Red Chinese go too far, if they attack and are met by force, the Soviet Union reserves the right to avoid involving itself in a war with the United States. Only if the United States attacks is the U.S.S.R. obliged to come to Red China's help with military support.

Khrushchev got this message across through the transparent device of an arranged interview limited to one question and one answer. His anxiety to do so confirms the impression held by many in this capital that the Soviet Union cannot wholly control Peiping in the Formosa Strait crisis.

The Red Chinese, smelling a victory, might be too much inclined to pour on pressure to the limit, in their own display of brinkmanship.

So Khrushchev is saying to the Chinese: All right, that is your own internal affair. If you are not attacked directly from without, specifically by the United States, that lets us out. You go it alone.

Peiping is not likely to take kindly to the Khrushchev statement. But it will make the Red Chinese think carefully about going off the deep end.

If you're looking for the most significant event at this moment, in a notably cockeyed world, consider the confirmation of Gen. Charles de Gaulle as dictator of France by a 4 to 1 popular majority. Voters included not only the residents of metropolitan France, but of a score of its overseas territories.

Stalin and Khruschev in Russia, Hitler in Germany and Mussolini in Italy achieved triumphs comparable statistically, but by the obvious process of giving the voters only one choice and making them vote with a heavily armed policeman looking over their shoulders.

In contrast, voters in France and its dominions voted more freely than has been the case in most of the democracies around the world —including the United States, if the traditional wholesale exclusion of Southern Negroes is considered.

Certainly, as to France proper, there was no appreciable coercion relative to rolling up a margin of 78.5 per cent in favor of the De Gaulle constitution. And in Algeria the margin of more than 95 per cent "oui" votes including those of French settlers and native Moslems, was almost embarrassing.

AS TO THE LATTER, only 17 per cent of the registered voters stayed away from the polls, despite fierce threats by the Moslem rebels against all those who dared to vote. In France proper the turnout of voters was 84.9 per cent—vastly greater than ever before in a French election.

Most snowed-under of all were the French Communists who, through all previous elections since World War II, have maintained substantially a quarter both of popular votes cast and of membership in the Chamber of Deputies. Of seats in the now expiring Chamber the Communists have 148 in a total of 592.

The Communist vote is estimated to have dropped to 17.5 per cent. That figured is arrived at if one regards all the "no" votes as cast by Communists.

The 17.5 per cent figure may even be conservative, for the opposition included anti-communist socialists on the leftward fringe, leading middle - ground personalities such as former Premiers Mendes - France and Bourges-Maunoury and the followers of Pierre Poujade on the extreme right who polled 11.4 per cent of the total vote and elected 52 members of the Chamber of Deputies in 1956.

Many competent observers of the French scene have argued all along that the heavy vote cast for Communist candidates in France was not so much due to adherence to that party as a means of registering a protest against a governmental system that provided little good for anybody.

The conclusion of these same observers now is that a great number of the heretofore Communist voters switched, like everybody else to De Gaulle as their best means for protest.

THERE MAY BE worse days ahead for the Communists. The next voting will be in November, for the choice of a new Chamber of Deputies. And in the meantime, De Gaulle will proclaim a revision of the election laws, which certainly will not be so aimed to help the Communists or other extremist groups.

The new system, rather, is expected to endeavor to lessen the number of parties and more particularly, from De Gaulle's standpoint, to concentrate his support behind a single ticket.

Since De Gaulle's formal support now embraces all parties from Guy Mollet's socialists to Antoine Pinay's far-right independents, the logical expectation is a race between that wide, middle-of-the road group, running in the name of De Gaulle, against Communists on the left and a conservative bobtail, possibly led by the distinctly unconservative Mendes-France.

Part of De Gaulle's success no doubt was due to his failure to declare policies clearly as to either domestic affairs or the all-pervading problem of Algeria. And that omission probably will continue at least until after the new Parliament is elected.

De Gaulle's present triumph, however, is so overwhelming as to leave scarely any doubt that he will step into a seven-year presidency of the Republic next January with virtually no official opposition.

All They Can Count Is Votes

In four and a half weeks, the election that only recently seemed to be in the distant future will be over.

All the votes will have been counted.

There is nothing else to count, however.

Tally sheets have no place to record good intentions, high principles, red-hot resentment, or even grudging admiration.

Not even an automatic voting machine can provide a willing ear for a citizen too lazy to vote to explain why he was not on hand to pull the lever.

This is, in the judgment of a great many people who know their politics from A to Izzard, the sleeper in the 1958 election, which is going to be one of the key elections of recent years.

Here is why:

UNION POLITICIANS think they are within striking distance of winning domination over the Democratic party.

They are going all out in 1958 to assert their power in state legislatures and Congress, knowing if they can line up enough lawmakers in the states and in Washington they will have things pretty much their own way in 1960, in the presidential election.

They have the money from their well heeled treasuries to put on a political blitz. They have the organization to line up their voters and get them to the polls in unprecedented numbers. They have the national coordination through their tightly knit organizations to put their plans into widespread action. They have the advisers to tell them what to do and where to concentrate their efforts.

But the most valuable thing they have as the campaign turns into the homestretch is evidence that in many places they stand a good chance to win by default. The only thing that can keep them from running away with the election are the candidates of the Republican party to whom they are opposed nearly 100 per cent, and they are counting on many Republican candidates to lose because their votes didn't show up.

The only thing that can keep Republican candidates from being swamped at the polls is a turnout of voters who favor them that will offset the expected turnout of voters who have been conditioned to oppose them.

THIS IS WHY there needs to be a tremendous upsurge in Republican determination in states like Ohio, which have been marked out for special effort by the United States "Labor" party that is making its strongest bid for domination of the moribund "Democratic" party this year.

In many contests, bona fide Democrats are as deeply involved in the showdown as Republicans. In many areas, the Democratic party as such never will be heard of again if the union politicians are successful in taking over its role in the two-party system.

Perhaps there should be a new two-party system.

Perhaps it should be the Republican party vs. the Labor party in the United States. But good idea or not, it should not happen because of any default by the opposition. The people who are hoping to bring it about by concentrating on the 1958 election think they have both Republicans and old-line Democrats on the run.

The Price Of Reuther's Consent

There is a feeling of happy relief at the announcement from Detroit that Walter Reuther, chief of the United Auto Workers, has consented after prolonged negotiations to let the automobile industry go ahead with its production if 1959 models.

This means the vast complex of suppliers whose products are used by the auto industry can go ahead with their part in the production of new cars. It means that potential customers can turn their thoughts toward the decision to buy or not to buy and that distributors and dealers can begin to make firm plans for handling the business of what everybody hopes will be a comeback year for the automobile industry.

But in all this harmony of happy relief because the leadership of the strategically placed auto union has been persuaded to give his consent to the production plans for 1959 models there is a note that may prove to be sour.

The public price of Mr. Reuther's consent has not been announced.

All that has been revealed so far are the general terms of the agreements between the Big Three and the Big One — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler and the UAW.

Auto company accountants are now, presumably, figuring out the impact on the selling price of cars. As night follows day, price increases follow increases in production costs, unless the latter can be offset by improvements in productivity.

The price increases represent the amount of inflation produced by industrywide bargaining that makes all manufacturers toe the same line, regardless of the size of their feet, or their fleetness afoot, in the race for the buying power of consumers.

As against the old days when the aim was to build more and more cars for less and less cost — the miracle that was called "mass production" — the present-day aim seems to be to get more and more labor costs out of an ever-shrinking dollar.

This is not peculiar to the auto industry. It is happening in all industries. There has been a singular lack of anything that could be described as "economic statesmanship" on the part of people whose idea of good times is spiraling wage rates payable in declining dollars.

Salute To The BPW

A salute to the Business and Professional Women's Club which is participating in National Business Women's Week today through Saturday.

The local club has been promoting worthwhile civic projects for nearly 20 years—and doing a goid job of it.

Heading the list is the Child Health Clinic, which has functioned for 11 years. Projects adopted since September include awarding of a student nurse's scholarship, a get-out-the-vote campaign and distribution of leaflets to school children cautioning against "strangers." They go well with the impressive list already compiled by the organization over the years.

Extra tribute is due during this special week. Fortunately, however, members of the BPW do not confine their good work to but seven days of the year. They are on the go 52 weeks.

When the community calls, the BPW is ever ready to answer. It's an organization we are proud to have in our midst.

Not Just Economics

With the increasing industrialization and housing expansion in the upper Ohio River Valley, sportsmen and nature lovers alike constantly ponder the future of area forests and wildlife.

The leasing last week of a 1,000-acre woodland tract by the Kaul Clay Co. of Toronto to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources for a game preserve and hunting area marks another commendable move in the district's conservation plans.

It demonstrates that private industry is aligned with state efforts toward a broader wildlife program and that the development of the valley's resources is not confined to economics.

Executives of the Kaul firm show a generosity and foresight which is growing among other industry leaders, government officials and private citizens who have the welfare of this river valley at heart.

Lotteries and off-track betting on horses are being proposed in various American cities in a desperate fight to ease municipal debt problems and individual taxes. In New York a citizens' committee will study city-run horse parlors. We named our own committee. Transcript of opening session follows:

Chairman: Gentleman, two members are absent. It's too bad. I played 'em to show.

Secretary: I shall record them as late scratches.

Chairman: This is a very serious issue and I hope we are all in form. The big question is whether we should have trained for a sprint or for distance.

A member: This could even develop into a jumping event. I have been practicing over the hurdles since reading the views of Gov. Harriman and Nelson Rockefeller.

Chairman: Will Mr. Blank please put down that racing sheet and pay attention?

Mr. Blank: I am not reading it. I carry it together with an anti-off-track betting editorial in order to show my neutrality.

Chairman: Not a bad idea. Let us remember that the mayor has sent us to the post under heavy responsibility to the community.

First Member: Just what is the mayor's position?

Chairman: He's a rail runner but he seems to want the far outside this time. Personally I have a hunch off-track betting will win.

Third Member: What odds are you quoting?

Chairman (interrupted by two telegrams):

Gentlemen, I have two wires from our two committeemen who didn't show up.

First Member: What happened?

Chairman: One broke down in stretch. The other came up lame.

Consolidated Edison has taken out a loan of 100 million dollars. Remember when you assumed the only gas company worry was whether you were putting a quarter in the meter?

A UNION AND AN AIRLINE have been in a hassle over whether airline women office workers and hostesses can be too glamorous. An office chick was dropped because of platinum blonde hair, her tight skirts, professional make-up, etc. The union forced reinstatement.

There's no doubt an extra glamorous babe can slow up office efficiency, but she can also give the joint a lift. (And in the airline business isn't a lift all important?)

There are platinum blondes who can stymie concentration on solid routines. But customers, especially males, are in no platinum blonde revolt. As for hostesses, yes and no. Beauty can be a peril. Surely "Fasten your belts" is not as effective from a Helen of Troy as from a Lizzie Borden.

British Hold Conflicting Views

By David Lawrence

Will Great Britain now give up Hong Kong? This question is being asked among diplomats and officials because the British Labor party has been urging that Quemoy and Matsu be surrendered by the Chinese Nationalist government.

David Lawrence

The Crown Colony of Hong Kong includes part of the mainland of China itself, as well as two islands a mile off the coast. The whole area is 391 square miles. Only about 15,000 British citizens live there. The rest of the population of around 2,600,000 is Chinese. If the only guiding rule is that what "belongs to the mainland of China" shall be given to the Red China regime, then the case for the giving up of Hong Kong is much stronger than that claimed by the British Labor party leaders for taking away Quemoy and Matsu from the Nationalists.

The conservative government in Britain is doubtless not at all interested in giving up Hong Kong. Great Britain has many millions of dollars of trade with Hong Kong each year, and lately this has been booming.

From the point of view of military title, repossession of Hong Kong was obtained after World War II by Great Britain at about the same time that the Nationalist government recovered from Japanese rule the offshore island of Matsu and Quemoy.

THE HONG KONG colony is believed to be largely anti-Communist, and it would be tragic to deliver the freedom-loving Chinese of Hong Kong into the murderous hands of the Communists. But the British Labor party leaders may not be taking such factors into account, any more than they have appeared to be concerned with the plight of the more than 50,000 free Chinese who are residents of Quemoy and Matsu.

These two offshore islands have never in themselves had strategic value and do not have now. They are important militarily only if the Reds intend to carry their war into Formosa.

Nor is there any weakening of the position of Secretary Dulles, despite the misinterpretations placed on his remarks at his Tuesday press conference. He favors a partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu only if there is a "dependable ceasefire" in the entire area, including Formosa.

Since there is no sign that the Communists wish to agree to a cease fire, the question of partial withdrawal of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu has been magnified out of all proportion to its real significance.

About all that Mr. Dulles' remarks were intended to do was to offset the erroneous impression that the United States is unwilling to negotiate for peace in the Far East.

It is in fact now negotiating at Warsaw, and for three years before has been negotiating with the Red Chinese ambassador at Geneva.

The Nationalist government of Formosa must naturally protest against the weakening of the garrisons on Quemoy and Matsu, but it seems certain of a ceasefire could be guaranteed against Formosa as well as the offshore islands, there would be less need for so many Nationalist troops on the islands.

There American position is that it is required by treaty to consult with the Nationalist government with respect to the defense of Formosa.

It is true the resolution passed by Congress in 1955 referred to the defense of Formosa and "related positions and territories."

It is begging the real question for ciritics to say that Congress did defend Quemoy and Matsu.

In reality, the State Department spelled out before congressional committees at the time that the only reason for inserting in the resolution a reference to the offshore islands was to make sure that our own military forces would not be handicapped if the communists started using the island as bases for an attack on Formosa.

If the British Labor party is so sure that giving up territory to the enemy by negotiation is the real way to prevent war, they might read over again what Winston Churchill wrote in his memoirs about the successive acts of appeasement by Britain in the 1930's which led Hitler to miscalculate and start a world war.

Unfortunately, as President Eisenhower pointed out last week, public opinion superficially demands concessions and then, when war is later provoked as a result of manifested weaknesses, there is a lot of hindsight as to what might better have been done.

Certainly a retreat while Quemoy and Matsu are under fire will be construed in the Communist and "neutralist" world as a backdown by the West.

What 'Good Old Days'?

By Frank Tripp

Almost anybody over 50 or so could write this column, about things that kids will never do again. It is addressed more to oldsters than to the young — to you who will remember "joys now denied our children." What were they?

They'll never see a mile-long circus parade, with rumbling golden wagons, cages of animals from many climes, hundreds of beautiful horses in 8- to 20-rein teams, bands, clowns, equestrians; nor hear the man on horseback warn, "Hold your horses, here come the elephants," or the shrieking coal-fired "steam piano" that marked the end of the gorgous pageant.

They'll never see a horsecar, many never a trolley, and it won't be long when none will know the majesty of the steam locomotive.

They'll never see a copper-tipped, red-top leather boot, a bootjack, a cast iron tea kettle, a hot water reservoir at the back of a wood chunk range, a wooden wash tub in mid-kitchen for the Saturday night bath.

THEY'LL NEVER see a school slate, a tin drinking cup on the end of a chain at the schoolyard pump; the red welt from a teacher's ruler across a hand that got into mischief.

Few, if any, will ever snuggle their best girl under a buffalo robe on a sleigh ride party, or get a kick out of "hopping bobs," a straw ride or that grand old party game, "post office."

They'll never know the joy — or value — of a penny, nor run a mile errand to earn one. It'll never be a treat to lick the ice cream dasher, or scoop the raw molasses batter out of mom's baking bowl.

They'll never club the trees for chestnuts at the first frost, or brown their skins like Indians with walnut husks.

They'll never crack the dawn with cannon on the Fourth, tip over a Chic Sale on Halloween—or know whether Santa is the guy with ivory whiskers and pink pajams in front of the hardware store or the skinny one chewing tobacco on the next corner.

The poor kids!

HOW MANY of these things would today's kids care to do or wish to see? I asked a few, and you'll not be surprised at their answers. The questions almost answer themselves for the new generation, young and old, regardless of age.

Sure, they'd like to see a genuine circus and its long parade; who wouldn't? They thought the Fourth of July cannon a swell idea; they'd like that.

When told what a Chic Sale is, they allowed it would be fun to tip one over. They could see no current osculatory advantage in the parlor game "post office"; just a crude, slow, hard way to kiss a girl. The buffalo robe idea seemed entirely unnecessary nowdays.

AS TO the rest of it, there was hardly even mild curiosity. More often it was disbelief that their elders either enjoyed or tolerated such things.

The attitude was one of pity for those who lived through the "good old days."

Which makes real sense to oldsters who will admit it. How many of us would settle for a horsecar, a wood chunk range, a mid-kitchen bath tub, knee-high leather boots, tin drinking cups—or run a mile for a penny?

I guess that "nostlagia is our least important product."

At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good.

—Mary Baker Eddy

To try too hard to make people good is one way to make them worse. The only way to make them good is to be good, remembering well the beam and the mote.

—George MacDonald

The devil loves nothing better than the intolerance of reformers.

—James Russell Lowell

Every great man is always being helped by everybody; for his gift is to get good out of all things and all persons.

—Ruskin

Undertake something that is difficult; it will do you good. Unless you try to do something beyond what you have already mastered, you will never grow.

—Ronald E. Osborn

The invention of the alphabet, which is the basis of modern writing, is ascribed to the ancient Phoenicians, who are thought to have taken some of the signs used in the hieroglyphics of Egypt and made them into characters which represent the sounds of the voice as we now find them in our alphabet.

NROTC Exam Applications Now Available

Applications now are available for high school youths to apply for the Navy's 13th annual competitive examination for its NROTC college training program.

Bert A. Dawson, dean of boys at East Liverpool High School, has applications and specific information on the NROTC program and can furnish bulletins to interested students.

The deadline for applications is Nov. 15 and the examination is scheduled Dec. 13.

Youths between 17 and 21 are eligible to apply for the college aptitude test. Those attaining a qualifying score will be given the Navy's rigid midshipman physical exam in February.

From a pool of qualified candidates, approximately 1,800 will be selected for appointment as midshipmen and will enroll in one of 52 colleges of their choice where a NROTC unit is located.

Successful candidates will begin their careers in colleges and universities in 1959. In addition to the normal college curriculum, they will study a planned course in naval science. All tuition, fees and books will be furnished by the Navy plus an annual retainer pay of $600 for a maximum of four years. The midshipmen will spend part of three successive summers on training cruises.

The purpose of the Regular NROTC is to train and educate young men for ultimate commissioning as career officers in the Navy and Marine Corps.

Hunston Hits Blake On Personal Record

Atty. Walter J. Hunston of Salem, Republican candidate for state senator from the 20-22nd District, struck out at State Sen. Arthur Blake, his Democratic opponent, at a meeting near Salem Friday, charging him with failure to show the humanitarianism he claims in legislative policy.

Hunston said Blake "tries to create the impression he is the champion of the needy, the underdog and abused. But this stand is discredited," Hunston declared, "by Blake's leaving the scene of an accident in which a pedestrian was injured and filing a bankruptcy action 'to wipe out the judgment given another pedestrian accident victim who had filed against him as driver'."

Hunston said the voters should "restore the office of state senator to a position of respect and dignity by removing the incumbent."

2 Candidates Attack County Road Situation

R. Max Gard and Frank Wilson, Democratic candidates for county commissioner, declared many township and county roads will be unsafe for school bus travel this winter at a meeting of Knox Township Democrats Sunday night.

Both men said the present commissioners should survey the roads and pledged they would make the roads passable if elected. Gard also criticized the commissioners for not acting to participate in the surplus food program.

Kenneth Bell, candidate for auditor, said the present county auditor's office has the highest operating cost of all in the Courthouse. He also criticized the auditor for employing a firm out of the county to do the real estate re-appraisal. Bell promised to lower operating costs and have county people do property valuations.

A car driven by Violet Seacrist, 59, of 825 Chester Ave., and one operated by Jess Kee, 40, of Alliance sideswiped on Route 62 about 4 miles east of Alliance about 1 p. m. yesterday.

The patrol said the city woman was passing the other car where a four-lane road narrowed to two lanes.

Arthur Boothe, 19, of Salem was admitted to Salem Central Clinic yesterday afternoon after his motorcycle collided with an oncoming auto on Route 344 about two miles east of Leetonia.

Reports Due Tuesday In Scout Fund Drive

First reports are due Tuesday in Wellsville's $2,500 Boy Scout fund drive, Richard Brown, chairman, said today.

The drive opened Saturday. Sixty scouts toured city streets washing windshields of parked cars. They also distributed 2,000 handbills, Brown said.

Friday night, 35 scouts conducted the flag raising ceremony at the Wellsville-Bellaire football game. Charles Stone, leader of Troop 20, was in charge of the scout activities.

Richard Jones, who is assisting Brown, and Bob McVay toured the town in a sound car Saturday explaining the campaign.

The drive to raise funds for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council is conducted separately in Wellsville because the city does not have a Community Fund organization.

Brown said the campaign will end Saturday.

The patrol said the city woman was passing the other car where a four-lane road narrowed to two lanes.

Arthur Boothe, 19, of Salem was admitted to Salem Central Clinic yesterday afternoon after his motorcycle collided with an oncoming auto on Route 344 about two miles east of Leetonia.

Reports Due Tuesday In Scout Fund Drive

First reports are due Tuesday in Wellsville's $2,500 Boy Scout fund drive, Richard Brown, chairman, said today.

Friday night, 35 scouts conducted the flag raising ceremony at the Wellsville-Bellaire football game. Charles Stone, leader of Troop 20, was in charge of the scout activities.

Richard Jones, who is assisting Brown, and Bob McVay toured the town in a sound car Saturday explaining the campaign.

The drive to raise funds for the Columbiana Boy Scout Council is conducted separately in Wellsville because the city does not have a Community Fund organization.

Brown said the campaign will end Saturday.

Drive Opens For Hiring Physically Handicapped

With the opening of the 14th National Employ - the - Physically Handicapped Week today, 125 handicapped persons are registered at the Ohio State Employment Service office for work.

Mayors Fred P. Lawrence of East Liverpool and William Shoub of Wellsville joined Gov. C. William O'Neil today in proclaiming the special week and pointing out that no employer can afford to overlook the handicapped as a valuable source when building an efficient work force.

The state committee said job opportunities for the handicapped have continued to rise during the year and rehabilitation of handicapped persons by both public and private agencies also is on the increase.

The OSES considers a handicapped person one whose physical impairment characteristics requires special consideration in placing them in jobs. The special consideration provides an employer with a worker qualified to do the job for which he was hired.

2 Autos Damaged In W. 4th Mishap

Carroll was halted waiting to make a left turn into the alley when Coleman started to pass and then pulled to the right because of an oncoming car, scratching the side of his auto and the bumpers of Carroll's car, police said.

Two hit-skip crashes also were reported over the weekend.

1959 Cadillac Shows Extensive Changes For Entire Line

The 1959 Cadillac, showing extensive changes throughout the entire line, is now on display at Mike Turk, Inc., 415 E. 6th St.

This Fleetwood 60 Special Sedan shows the long sweep of the body illuminated by convex panel with chrome louvers and swept chrome moldings.

In the 1959 62 Sedan and Sedan de Ville, there is a choice of two body styles different in roof contour, number of windows and over-all height.

Joing the six - window sedan is a four - window sedan.

Both models are available with a wide choice of interiors.

The wider hood now extends on either side to the center of the fenders. This provides better access to the engine compartment.

The broad deck lid covers a luggage compartment that holds 11 standard cases, 2 golf bags and still has room for extras. The spare wheel lies flat and redesigned space permits the extra loading.

Fifteen basic colors are available throughout the line and five exclusive finishes may be selected for the Eldorado Biarritz and Eldorado Seville. An additional 15 colors are limited to the Eldorado Brougham.

In all, there are more than 106 different interior combinations. The new instrument panel cluster housing is raised and all indicators are tightly grouped, with the instruments themselves depressed to place them at the optimum distance from the driver for best vision.

Cadillac Hydra - Matic transmission, power steering and power brakes combine to make motoring relaxing.

Cadillac offers two power plants; a 345 horsepower engine in the Eldorado Biarritz, Seville and Brougham, and a 325 horsepower engine in all other models. The 345 horsepower engine may be had as an option in these other models.

Quiet in operation, the 1959 Cadillac air conditioning system employs a new method of distributing the cool air throughout the entire car. The three air sources located in the lower instrument panel may be individually adjusted to provide maximum comfort for passengers either in the front or rear seat.

This system allows for use of 100 per cent outside air, or up to 80 per cent recirculating air mixed with 20 per cent from the outside. The evaporator cleans and de-humidifies the air.

Supreme Court Begins Regular Fall Term Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court begins a regular fall term today that is expected to produce important decisions in the fields of race relations and business regulation.

Following tradition, the court limits its first meeting to brief opening formalities. The justices will spend the remainder of the week discussing various appeals in closed conferences, and announce their first decisions next Monday.

Major cases in both racial and business fields are included in a pending docket of nearly 700 cases. They cover a wide variety of issues.

Twelve appeals involving racial questions face the court, which only a week ago spoke out in special session against evasive schemes to keep school segregation.

More such cases are expected during the nine-month term as Southern opponents of the Supreme Court's school rulings cast about for new ways to continue classes on a segregated basis.

Among the 12 pending appeals is one by Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas. He has asked the court to declare invalid an injunction issued by a lower court. The injunction halted use of National Guardsmen at Central High School in Little Rock in September 1957.

The Panama Canal was opened in January 1915.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Scandinavian Children Show Fine Upbringing

By Garry Meyers

Each time I visit European countries, I find myself comparing their methods of raising children with ours. In general, European parents are far more strict with children than we are in the States. Children in Europe seem to have more self-control than ours do. They have fewer material things and far less money to spend. Also, the juvenile delinquency rate is far lower than in our country.

HERE ARE some observations Mrs. Myers and I made, especially in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark, this past summer:

We often saw parents with children under 12 or 14 on the streets, in stores, trains and public places. Rarely did we see young children in such places without older attendants, although there were many large groups having fun at playgrounds.

We were impressed with the large number of families going places together.

Almost never in Scandinavia did we see children on the streets or other public places rushing about pushing, hitting and chasing one another.

Outside a small railroad station in Sweden, I vividly recall two young parents with their three children, from 5 to 9, waiting for a train for about 20 minutes.

All were well-dressed and looked healthy. Obviously, there was a happy relationship between the children and their parents. Not once did a child stray from the group. None had to be run after or given a coin to get sweets from a slot machine.

Observing them, other American tourists expressed surprise.

One said, "Imagine a bunch of kids so well managed in our country."

THESE children had obviously been well brought up. Furthermore, their behavior was typical of other family groups we met in our travels in the various Scandinavian countries.

Not once did we see youngsters display tempers or throw tantrums. Yet I never saw a parent strike, shake or scold a child.

The kind, tender ways of parents toward their young children were noticeable everywhere. In fact, parental love is the theme of much of the art works found in Scandinavian parks.

My conclusion is that love and restraint are well balanced in the rearing of children in Scandinavia.

My bulletin, "Love And Restraint," may be had by sending a self - address, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

CHESTER SPEAKER. William T. Miller of Huntington, president of Securities, Inc., of West Virginia, will speak at a "Ladies Night" dinner meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday at the Chester City Hall. He is controlling stockholder of Securities, Inc., and is a member of the Lions Club, Elks Lodge and the Ohio Valley Accountants Association.

Jet Pilot Speaks To Industry PTA

Capt. Robert W. Bazley, jet pilot stationed at the Air Force Base at Greater Pittsburgh Airport, addressed the Industry Township Parent-Teacher Association Thursday night at the Ohio View School. Father's Night was observed. The airmen discussed "Jets and the Modern Age."

Mrs. Homer Paul, president, announced the annual Fall conference will be held in Baden Oct. 25.

An invitation was read to attend the Fairview PTA meeting Oct. 16, when Mr. Lacy Cummings will be the moderator of a symposium "Local Needs of a Rural Doctor, and How to Obtain One." Mrs. Bernard Echmitt, program chairman, distributed the 1958-59 yearbooks These were made by Mrs. Hastings and seventh grade pupils. Mrs. Robert Cowan, library chairman, gave a report on the card party held last week. Mrs. Paul Brucker gave final reports for the fair to be held Saturday. Devotions were led by Mrs. George Madish. The hostess chairman, Mrs. Gerome McCreery, announced Mrs. Donald Luster and the sixth grade mothers will be hostesses for the next meeting Nov. 6. Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Scandinavian Children Show Fine Upbringing

Each time I visit European countries, I find myself comparing their methods of raising children with ours. In general, European parents are far more strict with children than we are in the States. Children in Europe seem to have more self-control than ours do. They have fewer material things and far less money to spend. Also, the juvenile delinquency rate is far lower than in our country.

By Garry Meyers

HERE ARE some observations Mrs. Myers and I made, especially in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark, this past summer:

We often saw parents with children under 12 or 14 on the streets, in stores, trains and public places. Rarely did we see young children in such places without older attendants, although there were many large groups having fun at playgrounds.

We were impressed with the large number of families going places together.

Almost never in Scandinavia did we see children on the streets or other public places rushing about pushing, hitting and chasing one another.

Outside a small railroad station in Sweden, I vividly recall two young parents with their three children, from 5 to 9, waiting for a train for about 20 minutes.

All were well-dressed and looked healthy. Obviously, there was a happy relationship between the children and their parents. Not once did a child stray from the group. None had to be run after or given a coin to get sweets from a slot machine.

Observing them, other American tourists expressed surprise.

One said, "Imagine a bunch of kids so well managed in our country."

THESE children had obviously been well brought up. Furthermore, their behavior was typical of other family groups we met in our travels in the various Scandinavian countries.

Not once did we see youngsters display tempers or throw tantrums. Yet I never saw a parent strike, shake or scold a child.

The kind, tender ways of parents toward their young children were noticeable everywhere. In fact, parental love is the theme of much of the art works found in Scandinavian parks.

My conclusion is that love and restraint are well balanced in the rearing of children in Scandinavia.

My bulletin, "Love And Restraint," may be had by sending a self - address, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

City Quota Club Cited For 4 Phases At District Sessions

The East Liverpool Quota Club was cited for four phases of endeavor at the meeting of the 6th District Friday through Sunday in Cleveland.

It won second place for all events, which included amount of money earned for service work, amount spent for service work, total number of service hours contributed to the community and for the number of new members.

Members of the club have given over $2,000 for service projects of the Speech Clinic, aid to the hard-of-hearing as well as local charity projects. They have earned 2,168 service hours for participation in Red Cross, Cancer, Cerebral Palsy and hospital work.

Officers elected were Miss Kathryn McNalley of Alliance, governor, and Mrs. Lucille King, of Akron, lieutenant governor.

International officers attending were Mrs. Margretta Cliflin of Columbus, president, and Mrs. Dorothy Patterson Sayre, of Canton, director.

Some 179 attended the sessions and local members were Dr. Edith Gilmore, president, and Miss Justine Miller, delegates, and Miss Phyllis Crook, Miss Mildred McGregor, Miss Gladys DeBolt, Mrs. Dorothy Horsley and Mrs. Mary McCullough.

All except Mrs. Horsley and Mrs. McCullough participated in the panel outlining the work of the Speech Clinic operated by the local club. The panel was presented at the request of the district and the project previously was voted the most outstanding in the district in 1958.

One of the speakers was Dr. John Montgomery of Kent State University, who heads the speech therapy operation of the local clinic, which is held every Saturday at Westgate School.

Favors presented were silver Quota bracelet emblems.

The 1959 conference will be held in Dayton.

Ike Makes Appeal To World Bank Group

NEW DELHI (AP) — President Eisenhower appealed today to the 66 member nations of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund to increase their contributions to the two financial organizations.

"A constructive increase in their resources would greatly enhance their usefulness to the free world community," Eisenhower said in a message read at the opening of the annual conference of the fund and the bank.

The monetary fund maintains a pool of dollars and other currencies from which members may borrow when trade fluctuations bring their foreign currency reserves to dangerous lows. The World Bank makes loans for development projects, especially to underdeveloped countries.

Not Exactly Quiet For Oxford Police At Football Game

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—The Oxford police book showed only one citation—for reckless driving—after the traditional Xavier-Miami football game Saturday.

But it was not exactly a quiet afternoon. Officers said three rooters had been taken from the stadium for drinking and being disorderly. Six others were brought in for ignoring traffic lights.

Chief C. H. Wassenich finally relented and unlocking the cells, told the nine they could go. But nobody counted how many left.

Constable Robert Darlin showed up moments later and yelled, "What about my prisoner?" He had locked up an 18-year-old Cincinnati youth he said was holding an open bottle on a downtown street.

But it was too late. The youth had already vanished.

New Type Of Formal Living Room

The American family enthusiastically has embraced informal living, placing heavy emphasis on outdoor life.

But, there is satisfaction, on occasion, when the family puts on its best clothes and refreshes its memory of formal manners and a more elegant way of life.

Most homes are designed to provide an area reserved for this excursion into delightful talk surrounded by beauty, charm and grace.

Modern designers are showing the way to a new type of formal living room. It is a room where heirlooms of priceless value mingle with the most modern furniture in complete harmony. It is a room with dignity, yet with a warmth and friendliness not usually associated with the parlors of the past.

GRACIOUS LIVING is created by the over - all impact of the surroundings. The stage is set for cordiality by the architect first with the walls.

A favorite device is to use walls panelled in a friendly, beautiful wood such as west coast hemlock or Douglas fir. The warm, neutral colors of these woods, when finished naturally with clear lacquer or wax, make an ideal background for any decor.

One of the most interesting aspects of formal living rooms finished in wood is the opportunity for use of other contrasting materials. For instance, wood makes a complete marriage with stone and brick, with glass, or with any fabric.

Some architects like to panel three walls of a living room in wood, then, for contrast, finish one wall in silk or one of the new and fascinating straw or linen wallpapers.

The living room, to be worthwhile, must be friendly and inviting or it never will be used. The richness and elegance of the incomparable texture, grain, patina and colorings of wood immediately create this atmosphere.

Most architects consider the walls as just a beginning, and more and more of them are designing built - in buffets, elegant storage cabinets, and wall storage of the very same wood used in the walls. Thus, the living room takes on utility values, in addition to providing a restful haven for formal living.

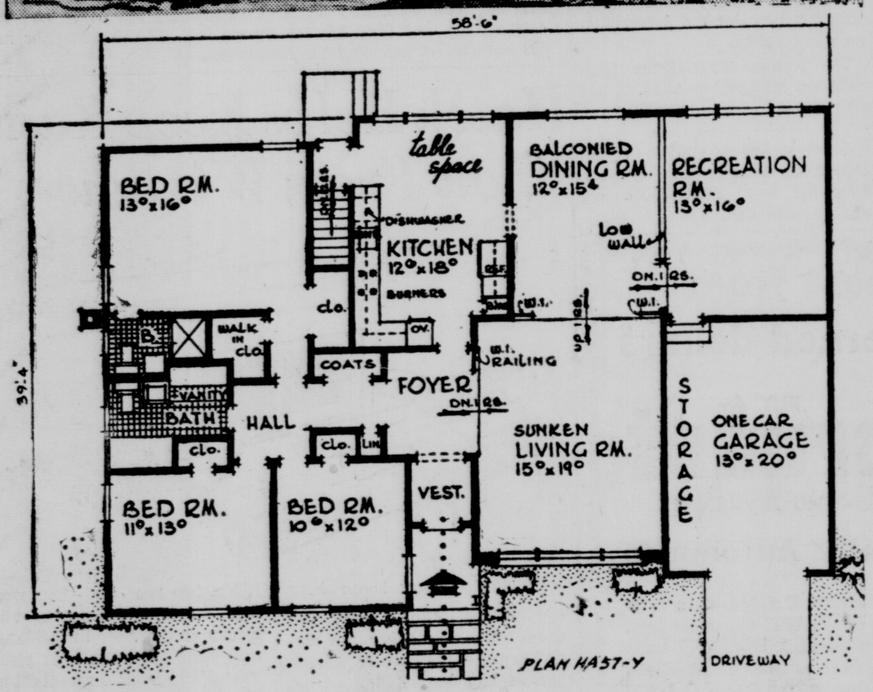
THE SOFT tones of west coast hemlock, which are sometimes beige and sometimes champagne, are compatible with any color scheme. The slightly reddish cast of Douglas fir tends to soften ever so slightly its natural tawny tones. Western red cedar, with its browns, tans and cedar red tones, has a richness which few other woods possess.

Added charm is given many living rooms in the new beamed ceiling design. The architect, striving for variety and contrasts, may use hemlock for the ceiling, and fir or cedar on the walls. The lighter tones hemlock gives the illusion of extra height and creates a pleasingly airy appearance in the living room.

Even in open area homes, where low divider walls or functional storage units are used to separate various use areas, the formal living room can be set off from the rest of the home with a well defined divider, and the integrity of formality retained.



A SUNKEN LIVING ROOM and a dropped recreation room are interior features of this one-story ranch. And, welcome news to mother, the kitchen is 18 feet long with an outside door for a service entrance. The plan, HA57-Y, is by Architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, New York. Excluding the recreation room, the main level has 1,644 sq. ft. The recreation room has 216 sq. ft. and the garage 275 sq. ft.

New Type Of Formal Living Room

The American family enthusiastically has embraced informal living, placing heavy emphasis on outdoor life.

But, there is satisfaction, on occasion, when the family puts on its best clothes and refreshes its memory of formal manners and a more elegant way of life.

Most homes are designed to provide an area reserved for this excursion into delightful talk surrounded by beauty, charm and grace.

Modern designers are showing the way to a new type of formal living room. It is a room where heirlooms of priceless value mingle with the most modern furniture in complete harmony. It is a room with dignity, yet with a warmth and friendliness not usually associated with the parlors of the past.

GRACIOUS LIVING is created by the over - all impact of the surroundings. The stage is set for cordiality by the architect first with the walls.

A favorite device is to use walls panelled in a friendly, beautiful wood such as west coast hemlock or Douglas fir. The warm, neutral colors of these woods, when finished naturally with clear lacquer or wax, make an ideal background for any decor.

One of the most interesting aspects of formal living rooms finished in wood is the opportunity for use of other contrasting materials. For instance, wood makes a complete marriage with stone and brick, with glass, or with any fabric.

Some architects like to panel three walls of a living room in wood, then, for contrast, finish one wall in silk or one of the new and fascinating straw or linen wallpapers.

The living room, to be worthwhile, must be friendly and inviting or it never will be used. The richness and elegance of the incomparable texture, grain, patina and colorings of wood immediately create this atmosphere.

Most architects consider the walls as just a beginning, and more and more of them are designing built - in buffets, elegant storage cabinets, and wall storage of the very same wood used in the walls. Thus, the living room takes on utility values, in addition to providing a restful haven for formal living.

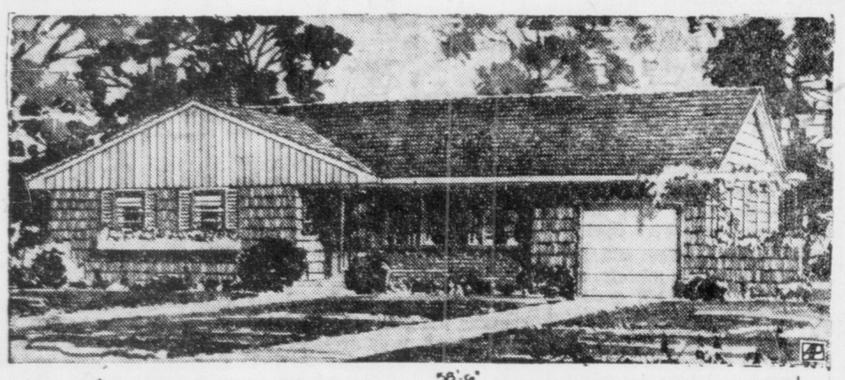
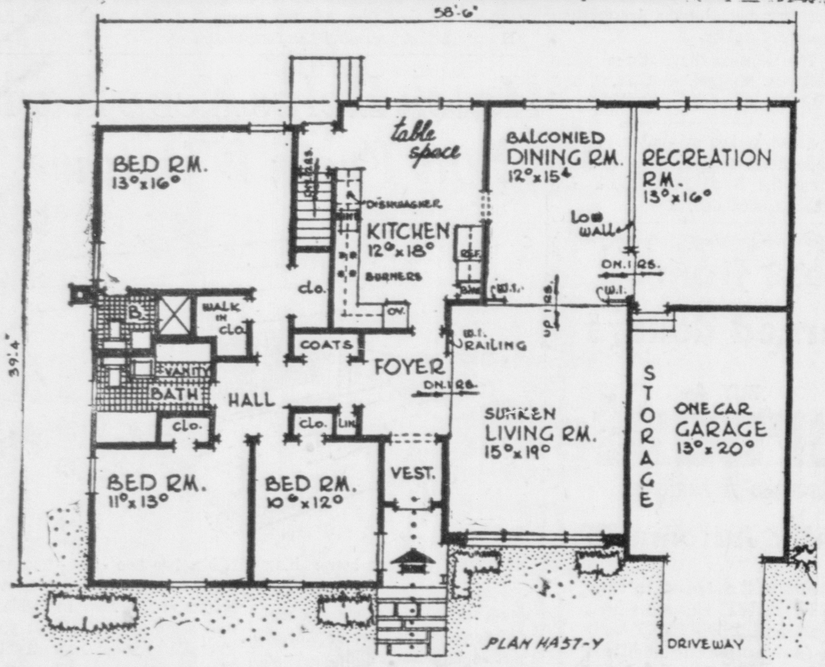
THE SOFT tones of west coast hemlock, which are sometimes beige and sometimes champagne, are compatible with any color scheme. The slightly reddish cast of Douglas fir tends to soften ever so slightly its natural tawny tones. Western red cedar, with its browns, tans and cedar red tones, has a richness which few other woods possess.

Added charm is given many living rooms in the new beamed ceiling design. The architect, striving for variety and contrasts, may use hemlock for the ceiling, and fir or cedar on the walls. The lighter tones hemlock gives the illusion of extra height and creates a pleasingly airy appearance in the living room.

Even in open area homes, where low divider walls or functional storage units are used to separate various use areas, the formal living room can be set off from the rest of the home with a well defined divider, and the integrity of formality retained.





A SUNKEN LIVING ROOM and a dropped recreation room are interior features of this one-story ranch. And, welcome news to mother, the kitchen is 18 feet long with an outside door for a service entrance. The plan, HA57-Y, is by Architect Herman H. York, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica 32, New York. Excluding the recreation room, the main level has 1,644 sq. ft. The recreation room has 216 sq. ft. and the garage 275 sq. ft.

'Traffic Controls' Help In Kitchen

Of all the rooms in the home, none has more problems of traffic congesion than the kitchen.

Seat of savory smells and intriguing cooking activities, the kitchen is the loadstone for every member of the family, as well as guests. In the poorly planned kitchen, too many people just get in cook's way.

The secret is to have a traffic flow pattern that routes people away from the cooking center if they are traveling through the kitchen.

ONE OF THE most clever ideas is to design an island in the center of the kitchen which may contain the range, work surfaces and storage. This island divider actually creates traffic lanes, or streets, in the kitchen. It also serves to define various work areas.

One particularly interesting island in a prize-winning kitchen, which is designed in vertical grain west coast hemlock to match the rest of the kitchen cabinets and walls, adds exciting interest to this room.

This island divider is a four-in-one functional masterpiece. It serves as a traffic separator, storage for various pots, pans and utensils needed at the range, as well as high, deep storage for card tables and trays, a drool bar where guests can lean on the opposite side from cooking area, and it contains the electric range.

It was easy to plan work areas just a step or two apart in this kitchen because the island brought the cooking area right up within a step of the sink, the mixing and vegetable preparation sections, and the refrigerator.

The dining area is easy to reach either from the traffic side of the island or from the cooking side.

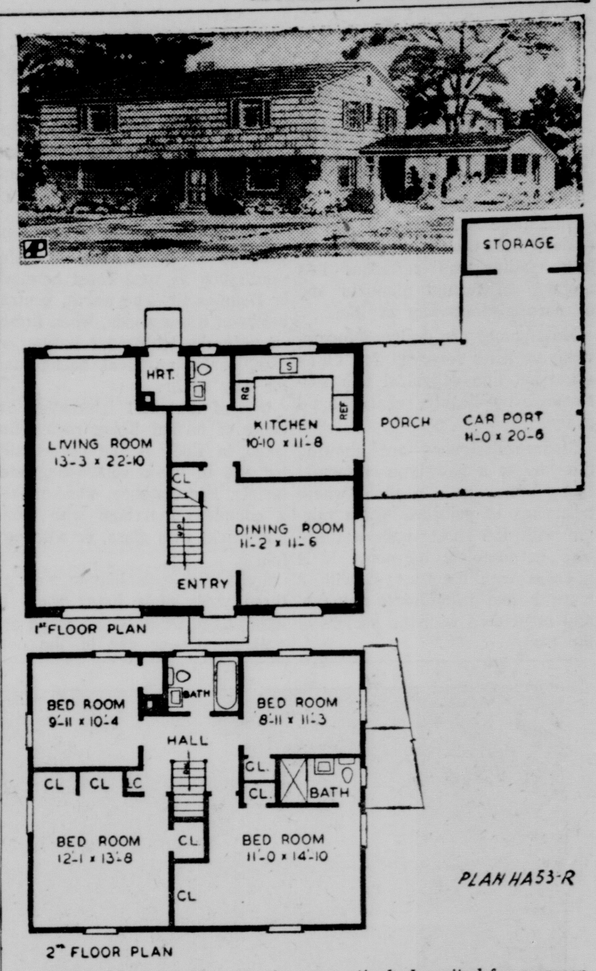
BY CLEVER arrangement of the kitchen and by utilizing devices such as a divider island, it is possible to provide working space for several persons, even during meal preparation time.

Refreshment bar and supplies may be located away from the center of cooking activity. Then, too, the divider island can separate the ironing and sewing areas from the cooking and food preparation sections.

The west coast hemlock used in this prize winning kitchen was finished to bring out the rich, champagne coloring of the wood. A coat of sealer was first applied and, when dried and rubbed down, coats of clear plastic were added.

After each coat of plastic was thoroughly dry, it was rubbed with steel wool. The effect is remarkable. The depth of the plastic brings out the wonderful texture and coloring of the wood and gives a deep patina.

To enhance the coloring of the wood, a pink laminated plastic covering was applied to all work surfaces. Copper pulls and hinges were used on all cabinet doors and drawers. The over-all effect is both charming and beautiful.



THIS COLONIAL two-story home, particularly suited for warmer climates, has no basement, an open side porch and a carport. The plan, HA53-R, is by Architect Alfred H. Ryder, room 75, 117 West 48th St., New York City 36, N. Y. Excluding the porch and the carport, the first floor has 820 square feet. The second floor has 820 square feet including the roof overhang.

Twin Babies' Deaths Ruled As Accidental

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coroner Samuel R. Gerber today ruled accidental death from atropine poisoning in the case of 2-month-old twin babies Daniel and David Nelson who had been given medication for upset stomachs.

At police headquarters, homicide bureau Capt. David E. Kerr said even though the ruling was accidental death, facts in the case will be presented to the police prosecutor.

He said investigation by the homicide bureau and Coroner Gerber's office disclosed the following chain of events:

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson, parents of the infants, called a pharmacist near their home last week and asked him to call their physician in Berea and obtain a prescription for stomach spasms the babies had suffered since birth.

The druggist was given a prescription by the doctor's secretary calling for 1.5 grains or 1-10th per cent atropine sulphate. The physician denied prescribing that amount of atropine, although the secretary said she passed on accurately the information given her.

Mrs. Nelson gave the twins the medicine Wednesday night. Thursday morning they were dead.

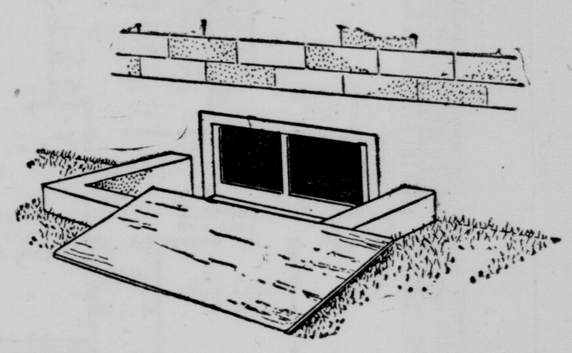
The coroner's office said anything larger than an average, safe dosage of 1-200 to 1-50 grain of atropine is apt to be fatal.

Dr. Gerber has been asked to perform an autopsy since the exact ingredients of the prescription were not known.

The Nelsons have three other children, Michael, 4, Allan, 2, and Patricia, 6.

About a ton of paper, mostly tape from stock brokers, is swept from the New York Stock Exchange each day.

Hatch Helps Keep Rain, Snow From Window



Practically every house has basement or crawl - space windows which are below the normal grade of the lawn or grounds surrounding the building.

During the winter months these frequently accumulate large amounts of snow and ice which eventually melts. In so doing the well around the window becomes filled with water and allows it to seep into the cellar. As a result many homes have damp conditions or even actual water.

A sure cure for this annoyance is to make a hatch which will prevent the accumulation of snow and shed off heavy rains which might otherwise fill the well.

The hatch shown here is quite simple, being made of a sheet of plywood large enough to cover the outer edges of the well wall. It has two two - by - four wood cross - members nailed to the bottom so that they fit inside the wall when the hatch is in place. These members prevent the hatch being blown off or siding off the top of the wall.

If plywood is not available, the hatch can be made of ordinary boards nailed to the cross-members. Two coats of paint will guarantee years of service.

The only possible objection to the use of these auxiliary devices is that they tend to make the basement or cellar darker than it would be without them, but in view of the fact that the light is usually turned on when anyone is using the basement, it makes little difference.

The cost of these hatches is very little. When one considers how they contribute to the dryness of the area below the house, they are well worth the having.

One particularly interesting Island in a prize-winning kitchen, which is designed in vertical grain west coast hemlock to match the rest of the kitchen cabinets and walls, adds exciting interest to this room.

This island divider is a four-in-one functional masterpiece. It serves as a traffic separator, storage for various pots, pans and utensils needed at the range, as well as high, deep storage for card tables and trays, a drool bar where guests can lean on the opposite side from cooking area, and it contains the electric range.

It was easy to plan work areas just a step or two apart in this kitchen because the island brought the cooking area right up within a step of the sink, the mixing and vegetable preparation sections, and the refrigerator.

The dining area is easy to reach either from the traffic side of the island or from the cooking side.

BY CLEVER arrangement of the kitchen and by utilizing devices such as a divider island, it is possible to provide working space for several persons, even during meal preparation time.

Refreshment bar and supplies may be located away from the center of cooking activity. Then, too, the divider island can separate the ironing and sewing areas from the cooking and food preparation sections.

The west coast hemlock used in this prize winning kitchen was finished to bring out the rich, champagne coloring of the wood. A coat of sealer was first applied and, when dried and rubbed down, coats of clear plastic were added.

After each coat of plastic was thoroughly dry, it was rubbed with steel wool. The effect is remarkable. The depth of the plastic brings out the wonderful texture and coloring of the wood and gives a deep patina.

To enhance the coloring of the wood, a pink laminated plastic covering was applied to all work surfaces. Copper pulls and hinges were used on all cabinet doors and drawers. The over-all effect is both charming and beautiful.

Twin Babies' Deaths Ruled As Accidental

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coroner Samuel R. Gerber today ruled accidental death from atropine poisoning in the case of 2-month-old twin babies Daniel and David Nelson who had been given medication for upset stomachs.

At police headquarters, homicide bureau Capt. David E. Kerr said even though the ruling was accidental death, facts in the case will be presented to the police prosecutor.

He said investigation by the homicide bureau and Coroner Gerber's office disclosed the following chain of events:

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson, parents of the infants, called a pharmacist near their home last week and asked him to call their physician in Berea and obtain a prescription for stomach spasms the babies had suffered since birth.

The druggist was given a prescription by the doctor's secretary calling for 1.5 grains or 1-10th per cent atropine sulphate. The physician denied prescribing that amount of atropine, although the secretary said she passed on accurately the information given her.

Mrs. Nelson gave the twins the medicine Wednesday night. Thursday morning they were dead.

The coroner's office said anything larger than an average, safe dosage of 1-200 to 1-50 grain of atropine is apt to be fatal.

Dr. Gerber has been asked to perform an autopsy since the exact ingredients of the prescription were not known.

The Nelsons have three other children, Michael, 4, Allan, 2, and Patricia, 6.

About a ton of paper, mostly tape from stock brokers, is swept from the New York Stock Exchange each day.

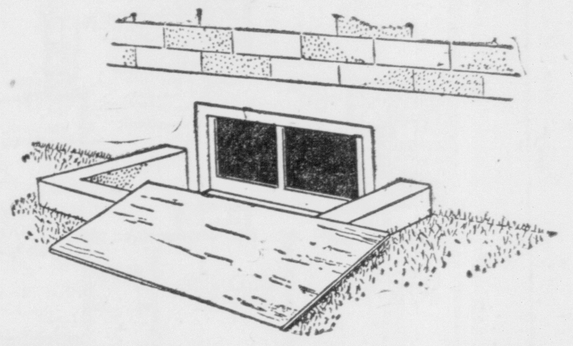
Ready-Mixed Concrete — Building Materials

Hatch Helps Keep Rain, Snow From Window



Practically every house has basement or crawl - space windows which are below the normal grade of the lawn or grounds surrounding the building.

During the winter months these frequently accumulate large amounts of snow and ice which eventually melts. In so doing the well around the window becomes filled with water and allows it to seep into the cellar. As a result many homes have damp conditions or even actual water.

A sure cure for this annoyance is to make a hatch which will prevent the accumulation of snow and shed off heavy rains which might otherwise fill the well.

The hatch shown here is quite simple, being made of a sheet of plywood large enough to cover the outer edges of the well wall. It has two two - by - four wood cross - members nailed to the bottom so that they fit inside the wall when the hatch is in place. These members prevent the hatch being blown off or siding off the top of the wall.

If plywood is not available, the hatch can be made of ordinary boards nailed to the cross-members. Two coats of paint will guarantee years of service.

The only possible objection to the use of these auxiliary devices is that they tend to make the basement or cellar darker than it would be without them, but in view of the fact that the light is usually turned on when anyone is using the basement, it makes little difference.

The cost of these hatches is very little. When one considers how they contribute to the dryness of the area below the house, they are well worth the having.

Builders War Upon Noise

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Noise," Philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer said, "is the most impertinent of all forms of interruption. It is not only an interruption, but also a disruption of thought."

Since Schopenhauer's relatively quiet era (1788-1860), life has been getting notably and noticeably noisier each year.

This is true even in the home, supposedly a secure abode of rest and tranquility, what with the din of blaring television sets and the increasing variety of automatic home appliances, each with their own peculiar noisemaking qualities.

THE PROBLEM of noise in the home, the street and in the air is being studied by medical authorities, public officials and others. It is a vexing, increasingly worsening problem.

Martin Hirschorn of New York, president of the National Noise Abatement Council, says:

"Under extreme conditions, noise actually causes physical damage to human hearing mechanisms.

But for the majority of people, it is simply irritating, annoying or distracting. At its worst, it contributes to mental and emotional disorder, to accident proneness and to such physical manifestations as severe indigestion and headaches."

Aware, too, of the noise problem are architects, builders, designers and decorators. Industry also is creating materials to deaden and absorb sound.

MOST HOMES need acoustical correction. Several factors are responsible: (1) increased use and variety of home appliances, (2) open planning of home interiors with fewer partitions, (3) increased use of wood, steel, plastic and masonry on interiors, creating hard, sound - reverberating surfaces, and (4) increased use of drywall partitions with higher through-the-wall sound transmission.

Stopping noise at its source can be difficult, but there are many practical ways to abate home nose. The key to acoustical correction is sound absorption — not to be confused with sound proofing.

Herman H. York, an architect of Jamiaca, N. Y., explains acoustical correction as an "effort to prevent sound waves from hitting a surface and bouncing back, reentering the area from which it started, possibly again hitting another surface and again veering off in another direction."

An effective way to achieve acoustical correction is to install acoustical materials. They can be used in practically any room.

ON THE other hand, York adds, "too much sound absorption in a room will result in a spongy effect."

All of the following items will aid materially in absorbing sound in the home:

Draperies, carpets and soft-cushioned upholstered furniture; resilient floor materials such as linoleum, cork or rubber in kitchens, bathrooms and playrooms; pads or casters under chair or table legs; mountings of rubber, cork or similar material under refrigerators, dishwasher and other such applicances to prevent vibration noises; and the planting of bushes and trees and the installation of fences around a house to absorb outside noises.

Buffers of resilient material also can be installed on doors, and it is advisable to weather strip doors and windows. Where possible, use double glass windows.

Try to follow as many of the above suggestions as practical. Even if you reduce the noise level in your home by just a few decibels, the result will be happily noticeable.

Steel Expects Best Quarter

Rising Orders Cited For Next 3 Months

CLEVELAND (AP)—The rising tide of orders at the steel mills will push production to 25 million tons during the next three months for the best quarterly output of the year, Steel Magazine predicted today.

Steelmaking operations last week rose two points to 68.5 per cent of rated capacity, the highest level of the year. The output of about 1,850,000 net tons was the largest for any week since the week ended Nov. 24, 1957.

Production of 7,560,000 tons in September was the largest of any month this year.

Steel mills operated at 60 per cent of capacity in the third quarter, with production totaling 21 million tons. The operating rate averaged 54 per cent and the output was slightly under 19 million tons in each of the first two quarters, Steel reported.

The magazine said the demand for sheets remains good despite "the slowness of automotive ordering." The demand for galvanized products is so great that some producers have their salesmen on quotas, it added.

A quarterly survey of buyers of component parts conducted by the publication shows that eight out of 10 will maintain or increase their inventories in the fourth quarter.

"The survey shows that inventory cutting is continuing in machined components, electrical equipment and motors," the metalworking weekly said. "But in those categories, as in others, the large majority of buyers have already completed inventory cutbacks."

The publication's composite on prime grade steelmaking scrap was unchanged at $43 a gross ton last week. Increased operations of the stee mills brighten the prospects for the demand for scrap, Steel said.

Fear Of Diet Hunger Has No Foundation

If you are overweight and long to drop 40 or 50 pounds, reason out what is keeping you from taking resolute action. Do you fear that you will have to go hungry for all the long months while you are reducing? Do you have the fixed notion that you will lose your laughter and feel weak and weary?

Ida Jean Kain

Friends, if you have what it takes to come to grips with hunger for a few days or two weeks at the longest, you have what it takes to be beautiful normal weight. On a protective diet you will not lose your disposition nor will you feel drained of energy.

First, to help you get over the notion that reducing will lessen your energy, get the right perspective on how much energy it takes to carry the load. For example, you know how heavy 20 pounds of groceries are to lift.

LUGGING THEM even a short distance leaves you all tuckered out. You sigh with relief when you put them down. Well, just think of the enormous relief when you drop 20 excess pounds of fat!

This letter from a triumphant reducer will not only help ally your fears but will bolster your courage. She writes:

"I think the main thing that discouraged me from starting a diet was the thought of being hungry for 8 or 9 months. Now I know it just isn't so. I haven't been hungry since those first two weeks...

"Last February, I received your Revised Calorie Chart and the protective diet. At that time I weighed 195 pounds with these measurements: bust 41, waist 34, hips 50. A more miserable, more unhappy person couldn't have been living.

"Now, seven months later, I have reduced 46 pounds, bringing my weight to 149 pounds with these measurements: bust 37 ½, waist 28, hips 44. And I'm truly happy. I still have 19 more pounds to lose, and I hope to lose several inches from my hips —but I feel sure that I will succeed.

"So many people remark about how well I'm looking. Then they mention how sorry they feel for my husband and children for what they must be going through while I'm dieting!

"As I think back, perhaps my disposition wasn't the best that first week of dieting until I got used to eating less food, but it couldn't have been much worse than before I started reducing. I had felt so sorry for myself because I was fat.

"AT THE END of the first week when I found I had lost 5 pounds, I felt so happy—and I became even happier as the pounds melted away. I'm content to reduce gradually now.

"After all, it took 10 years to gain all that weight! Of one thing I am certain—I intend to keep the pounds off. I know I can with these new eating habits. Thanks so much for all the encouragement and information in your column."

There you are, overweights. That's proof positive from a happy dieter. So stop expecting to go hungry, to feel weak, and to lose your disposition. Eat to reduce!

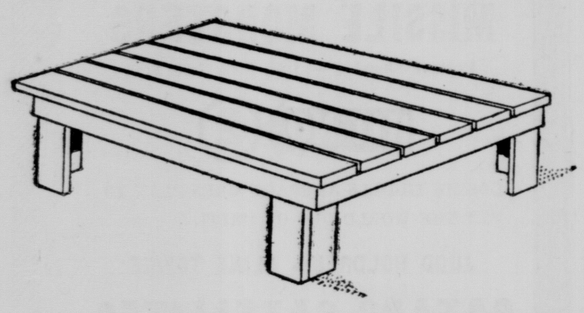
Table's Easy On Purse And Not Hard To Build



The owner of a house which has either a patio or a terrace attached to it, and who contemplates the purchase of one or more tables for that area, should consider making them himself, because there never was a more satisfactory and weather - resisting table than the type illustrated here.

This table can be made by any man capable of handling a hammer and a saw. The wood costs less than $3 for a two - foot-by-three-foot job, and about 10 cents worth of galvanized nails will fasten the pieces together.

The table is made by cutting a one - inch - by - three - inch finished strip so as to form a square of whatever dimensions you require, and nailing it together. The next step is to cut eight pieces for the legs.

These can be as long as you want the table high, and are assembled as shown and then nailed up inside the corners of the frame already made. The next and final step is to lay lengths of the strip across the top of the frame, as illustrated, and nail them through into the top edge of the frame.

These strips, which form the table top, should overlap the frame by one inch. Two good coats of outdoor or exterior paint will enable this table to last many years, and it can be hosed off or scrubbed whenenver required.

The same design and the same material can be used to make a much more decorative table if you desire. The frame and legs are painted white or sea green, while the strips forming the top are stained mahogany and then highly varnished.

This makes a very handsome table. It also can be further embellished by setting brass handles at each end of the frame so that it can be more easily moved about.

The average handyman can built this table in less than two hours.

"Now, seven months later, I have reduced 46 pounds, bringing my weight to 149 pounds with these measurements: bust 37 ½, waist 28, hips 44. And I'm truly happy. I still have 19 more pounds to lose, and I hope to lose several inches from my hips —but I feel sure that I will succeed.

"So many people remark about how well I'm looking. Then they mention how sorry they feel for my husband and children for what they must be going through while I'm dieting!

"As I think back, perhaps my disposition wasn't the best that first week of dieting until I got used to eating less food, but it couldn't have been much worse than before I started reducing. I had felt so sorry for myself because I was fat.

"AT THE END of the first week when I found I had lost 5 pounds, I felt so happy—and I became even happier as the pounds melted away. I'm content to reduce gradually now.

"After all, it took 10 years to gain all that weight! Of one thing I am certain—I intend to keep the pounds off. I know I can with these new eating habits. Thanks so much for all the encouragement and information in your column."

There you are, overweights. That's proof positive from a happy dieter. So stop expecting to go hungry, to feel weak, and to lose your disposition. Eat to reduce!

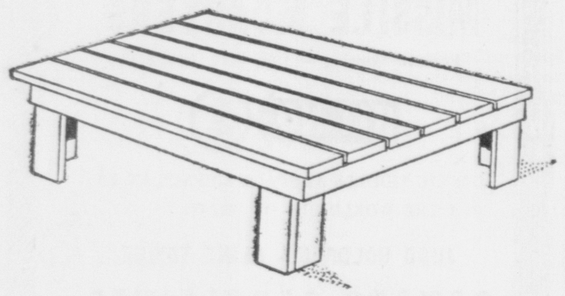
Table's Easy On Purse And Not Hard To Build



The owner of a house which has either a patio or a terrace attached to it, and who contemplates the purchase of one or more tables for that area, should consider making them himself, because there never was a more satisfactory and weather - resisting table than the type illustrated here.

This table can be made by any man capable of handling a hammer and a saw. The wood costs less than $3 for a two - foot-by-three-foot job, and about 10 cents worth of galvanized nails will fasten the pieces together.

The table is made by cutting a one - inch - by - three - inch finished strip so as to form a square of whatever dimensions you require, and nailing it together. The next step is to cut eight pieces for the legs.

These can be as long as you want the table high, and are assembled as shown and then nailed up inside the corners of the frame already made. The next and final step is to lay lengths of the strip across the top of the frame, as illustrated, and nail them through into the top edge of the frame.

These strips, which form the table top, should overlap the frame by one inch. Two good coats of outdoor or exterior paint will enable this table to last many years, and it can be hosed off or scrubbed whenenver required.

The same design and the same material can be used to make a much more decorative table if you desire. The frame and legs are painted white or sea green, while the strips forming the top are stained mahogany and then highly varnished.

This makes a very handsome table. It also can be further embellished by setting brass handles at each end of the frame so that it can be more easily moved about.

The average handyman can built this table in less than two hours.

Work Begins On New Park Center

Construction of a new community center at Chester's city Park got off to a big start Saturday when some 30 men and youths erected about 6 feet of concrete blocks of the 41-x-98 foot building before 1 p. m.

About 10 masons, members of the Brooke and Hancock County Bricklayers Union Local 11, along with 20 men and high school students, contributed their work for the new community building and youth center.

Kenneth Densmore headed the masons group which included Aussie Thomas, Johnny Busic, Dick Wright, Harry DeLong, Dave Gamble, Dave Cronin and Til Carfagna. Bill Allison was in charge of the some eight high school youths, who aided along with a group of men.

The work Saturday finished the foundation and the area around the foundation will be filled in with dirt and graded level with the football field this week.

Robert Finley is general superintendent of the project. The one-story structure is scheduled to be completed this fall. The masons and volunteers are slated to work again Saturday.

State Industrial Group Re-Elects M. W. Thompson

Molcolm W. Thompson, treasurer and general manager of the Hall China Co., has been re-elected a vice president of the Ohio Manufacturers Association.

The election was held Friday at the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees at the Scioto Country Club in Columbus. Lewis C. Thompson, vice president and secretary of the Champion Paper & Fiber Co. at Hamilton, was elected president, replacing Ephraim H. Brown, secretary of the Ohio Brass Co. at Mansfield.

Thompson, a native of East Liverpool, was graduated from East Liverpool High School, Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass., and Yale University. During World War I, he was commissioned from Officers Training Camp and rose to a captain's rank in the field artillery, commanding a battery until the armistice. Following the war, he attended Oxford University.

Volunteers Contribute Time

Work Begins On New Park Center

Construction of a new community center at Chester's city Park got off to a big start Saturday when some 30 men and youths erected about 6 feet of concrete blocks of the 41-x-98 foot building before 1 p. m.

About 10 masons, members of the Brooke and Hancock County Bricklayers Union Local 11, along with 20 men and high school students, contributed their work for the new community building and youth center.

Kenneth Densmore headed the masons group which included Aussie Thomas, Johnny Busic, Dick Wright, Harry DeLong, Dave Gamble, Dave Cronin and Til Carfagna. Bill Allison was in charge of the some eight high school youths, who aided along with a group of men.

The work Saturday finished the foundation and the area around the foundation will be filled in with dirt and graded level with the football field this week.

Robert Finley is general superintendent of the project. The one-story structure is scheduled to be completed this fall. The masons and volunteers are slated to work again Saturday.

Outlook In General Bright

Auto Pact Signing Erases Big Worry For Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With the auto industry assured of at least relative labor peace for three years one big worry has been removed for business. The outlook for industry in general is much brighter today. An auto strike would have slammed the brakes on the recovery.

Now steel can look forward to a good fourth quarter with certainty. The auto industry will also be using large quantities of copper, lead, zinc, rubber, glass and textiles.

This seems sure for weeks ahead. Consumer reaction to the new models will be the final determinant. But until that is tested, the auto industry will be turning out new cars in quantity.

Another big worry for business is being allayed. The consumer is going into debt again.

To business that means that consumer confidence is rising — that people feel certain enough about their future income to mortgage some of it in advance to buy things they want now.

Consumer credit has turned up after a six months drop and totals 33½ billion dollars. If the new auto models catch on, this debt probably will take still another jump this fall.

Americans also have been taking on home mortgage debt at a big clip, increasing this total by more than two billion dollars in the second quarter of the year, with no indication that the pace has slackened since.

Construction spending also is on the rise. More home building has been a factor, but the increase in public construction has given the total its biggest upward push.

Retail sales have held remarkably steady all through the recession. They dipped in areas hardest hit by unemployment and sloughed off generally in durable goods. But this was made up elsewhere by increased spending for food, for many other types of soft goods, and for a wide variety of services.

Now the total is rising all along the line. Appliance people say the customers are coming back. Merchants think the new feeling of confidence augers well for a record Christmas in most lines and most areas.

Economists may worry about the inflationary implications of the wage-price spiral and of the 12-billion-dollar federal deficit. They may worry about the upsetting potentials of more international friction.

They may worry about the heights to which stock prices have climbed. They may worry about what would happen to confidence in the future if the new autos flopped and this prop to the economy should be removed abruptly after the first flush of production and sales promotion.

They may even worry lest the total of debt that consumers are taking on should prove top heavy.

But the public seems sure none of these is going to happen or mean too much if it does. So the public is cutting back on its rate of saving, is buying a little more, but with an eye on prices, and is increasing its personal debt.

Outlook In General Bright

Auto Pact Signing Erases Big Worry For Business

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — With the auto industry assured of at least relative labor peace for three years one big worry has been removed for business. The outlook for industry in general is much brighter today. An auto strike would have slammed the brakes on the recovery.

Now steel can look forward to a good fourth quarter with certainty. The auto industry will also be using large quantities of copper, lead, zinc, rubber, glass and textiles.

This seems sure for weeks ahead. Consumer reaction to the new models will be the final determinant. But until that is tested, the auto industry will be turning out new cars in quantity.

Another big worry for business is being allayed. The consumer is going into debt again.

To business that means that consumer confidence is rising — that people feel certain enough about their future income to mortgage some of it in advance to buy things they want now.

Consumer credit has turned up after a six months drop and totals 33½ billion dollars. If the new auto models catch on, this debt probably will take still another jump this fall.

Americans also have been taking on home mortgage debt at a big clip, increasing this total by more than two billion dollars in the second quarter of the year, with no indication that the pace has slackened since.

Construction spending also is on the rise. More home building has been a factor, but the increase in public construction has given the total its biggest upward push.

Retail sales have held remarkably steady all through the recession. They dipped in areas hardest hit by unemployment and sloughed off generally in durable goods. But this was made up elsewhere by increased spending for food, for many other types of soft goods, and for a wide variety of services.

Now the total is rising all along the line. Appliance people say the customers are coming back. Merchants think the new feeling of confidence augers well for a record Christmas in most lines and most areas.

Salineville Edges Irondale, 6-0, With Last-Quarter Score

Chester Turned Back, 25-7, By Rangy Warwood Eleven

Indians Post Third Win On Dunlap's TD

By ROB NIBLOCK

Two fired-up grid rivals — Salineville and Irondale — battered each other Saturday at Salineville with fullback Rich Dunlap going over for a touchdown in the final period to give the Indians a hard-earned 6-0 triumph over the Irons before some 400 fans.

Jarring tackles were common and the ball carriers of both elevens received harsh treatment in the rugged affair. At least two gridders may be sidelined for future games as the result of injuries sustained in the contest.

Salineville paid heavily for its victory when Larry Kessler, highly-rated Indian quarterback, received an apparently serious back injury after a run around the right end on the Indians touchdown march.

Irondale fullback Scott Patton also was injured and did not return to the lineup after being helped off the field early in the game.

Salineville got its winning touchdown in the fourth period after the tempo of play had mounted throughout the entire contest, and was not climaxed until the final whistle blew the ball dead with Irondale moving toward a touchdown.

The Indians got possession of the ball early in the fourth period when Bud Leatherberry intercepted an Irondale pass at the 35-yard line and returned it to midfield.

Kessler and fullback Rich Dunlap, who have teamed-up for dazzling passing-receiving exhibitions in earlier games, used their running abilities to lead the Salineville touchdown offensive.

They alternated on carries which moved Salineville from the 50 to the Irondale 15. It was on this series of plays that Kessler was hurt. With a second-and-six situation at the 23, he carried to the 15 for a first down but was injured on the play.

Dunlap then moved into the tailback slot in Coach Dick Jones' multiple offense and went over for the touchdown after two carries. He fumbled and recovered on the first attempt, picking up two yards to the 13. On the next try he started around the left end and cut back, going untouched for the marker.

The rush for the extra points succeeded but was nullified by a penalty. Paul Giannone, subbing for Kessler, then tried to pass to Walter Kerr from nine yards out but it fell incomplete.

A fumble gave Salineville the ball again at the Irondale 25 two plays after the kickoff but they lost yardage in three plays back to the 29 where they punted.

Taking the ball at the 17, Irondale began a determined march which was to be stopped only by the clock. The running of Jim Sanders and Don Fraley, along with the passing of John Pilutti, featured the offensive.

The Irons moved for three quick first downs to the Salineville 35 where the Indians deflected three passes by Pilutti and appeared to have stopped the march. But on fourth down, Fraley went around the right side on a double reverse for another first down at the 21.

The Irons regrouped without huddle, knowing they were battled the clock, and Pilutti hit Fraley at the 15 on a pass, but they were unable to get off another play before time elapsed.

Irondale was in scoring position in every quarter but the third. However, it was not until the final drive that the offense seemed to have the necessary spark to punch a score across.

Fumbles halted two Irondale first period drives which carried to the 18 and 17-yard lines of Salineville. After taking the opening kickoff back to its own 42, Irondale penetrated to the Indians' 18 where a fumble resulted in losing possession of the ball. The Irons got the ball again at the Indians' 40 but fumbled again after driving to the 17 just before the first quarter ended.

Still another first half drive failed — this time a fumble on a fourth-down reverse at the 18 cost Irondale 10 yards and turned the ball over to Salineville.

The entire third quarter was played in the midfield area with each team getting only one first down as they concentrated on defensive tactics.

The fumble, which plagued the Irons all afternoon, was probably the result of crushing tackles by Salineville defenders.

The loss was the second for Coach Fred Sims' Irondale eleven which has won one. Salineville now has a 3-1 mark for the season.

Siebern Has No Excuses On Messing Up 4 Flies

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sprots Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Norm Siebern, at 25, is a young man with a crewcut who has completed his first full year in the majors. He also is the goat of the fourth game of the World Series, but he won't make any excuses.

Likely as not, there are no excuses to be made.

It was Siebern who messed up four balls hit to his left field position Sunday in Yankee Stadium as the Milwaukee Braves took a commanding 3-1 edge over New York with a 3-0 victory.

"I've had troubles before," said Siebern. "But never like this.

"I might have caught that ball in the seventh inning. But I didn't start quickly enough.

"I don't think I had much chance for that blooper in the fifth, but I should have caught the ball that went for a triple in the sixth. I shied away thinking maybe Mickey (Mantle) would get it. But it was my ball and I simply lost it.

"In the eighth, I lost the ball in the sun."

"It was another blunder for me."

No one could say the Yankees' deadly defeat—only the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates ever came back to win the world championship after losing three in a seven-game series—was all Siebern's fault.

The Yankees managed just two hits off Warren Spahn, who outpitched Whitey Ford a second time in this series.

Stengel defended Siebern, saying it was a tough field to play and that Siebern was a newcomer while pointing out that Siebern didn't keep the Yankees from getting hits.

Army And Notre Dame To End Current Series

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame and Army meet for the last time in their current series Saturday and it couldn't be a more important farewell.

Both teams have set this year as the target date for a high spot in the national rankings and both, so far, have showed they mean it.

Army is ranked No. 5 in the weekly Associated Press poll and Notre Dame No. 7. No one at either Army or Notre Dame appears ready to say when — if ever — the series will be resumed.

It will prove a mighty test for Army's bazooka offense.

Army beat Penn State 26-0 Saturday, doing all its scoring in the first half. Coach Red Blaik apparrently didn't want the Irish scouts to see too much, so the wraps were placed over the Cadets in the second half.

Oklahoma, No. 1, had a scare, winning by 6-0 against Oregon, one of the top defensive clubs in the country.

This week the Sooners take on Texas, the lone undefeated team in the Southwest Conference. The Longhorns whipped Texas Tech last week.

There are a couple of potential upsets down for Saturday when Michigan State plays Pitt and Iowa goes against Indiana.

The Spartans are advertised as being the No. 1 threat to Ohio State in the Big Ten (they don't play each other). But they could do no better than a 12-12 standoff against Michigan in their last outing.

Pitt, which dearly would love to win the Eastern title, had no easy time against Minnesota (13-7). The Panthers have a rough schedule including both Army and Notre Dame. Even if they don't win, this one will toughen them up for the big ones to come.

As for Iowa, another Big Ten topnotcher and rated No. 8 in the AP poll, the Hawkeyes were held to a 13-13 tie by the Air Force Academy.

Iowa has a date with conference foe Indiana, which turned back tough West Virginia 13-12.

Auburn, ranked second to Oklahoma and the national champion last year, plays Kentucky. The Tigers whipped Chattanooga 30-8 and appear too tough for Kentucky.

Third-rated Ohio State, which had its worries with Washington, 12-7, tangles with Illinois, which lost to Duke 15-13. This, too, could be close.

California licked Washington State 34-14 in the NCAA's Television Game of the Week, and in an upset of sorts, Tennessee, in the midst of a rebuilding program trounced Mississippi State 13-8.

Fairfield-Waterford Loses Fourth, 60-6

NEW WATERFORD — The football trail grew longer here Saturday afternoon for Fairfield-Waterford's winless Rebels as visiting Springfield Local breezed to a 60-6 victory.

Led by Frank Parks who scored four touchdowns, Springfield pinned the fourth defeat of the season on Fairfield-Waterford in an Inter-County League contest.

Parks' scores included runs of 25 and 55 yards. Brothers scored Fairfield-Waterford's lone touchdown on a 6-yard run. It was the second victory of the season for the visitors.

FAIRFIELD-WATERFORD	0	0	0	6	—6
SPRINGFIELD LOCAL	22	6	24	8	—60

Fairfield-Waterford scoring: Touchdowns — Brothers. Springfield Local scoring: Touchdowns —Parks 4, Myers, Quehr, Sznatkart, Henry. Points after touchdowns — Metza 3, (runs); Sznatkart (pass), Fields (pass), Myers (run).

Shaw Scoots 35 Yards For Panthers' TD

A big and determined Warwood eleven scored three touchdowns in the first half and added another in the third quarter to hand Chester its first defeat of the season, 25-7, at Wheeling Island Stadium Saturday night.

Seeking its first victory of the season, Warwood wasted little time in getting its offense in gear and completly stymied the Panthers in the first half of play, grinding out nine first downs while holding Chester to two and only 31 yards total offense.

Warwood took the opening kickoff and promptly marched 58 yards for a touchdown at 4:05 of the first period. Ron Blamey, a rangy six foot-four inch end, took a pass and went four yards for the tally. Blamey sparked the offensive, which consumed 17 plays, by snagging quick jump passes over the center for short yardage. A rushing attempt for the extra point failed.

The Panthers were then held for three plays after the touchdown and punted to the Warwood 46-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Warwood halfback Jack Little went off tackle and scampered 54 yards for the touchdown. The rush for the extra point again failed.

In the second quarter, Warwood intercepted an aerial thrown by quarterback Dave Brookes at the Chester 28 from where halfback Dick Lencyk scored another touchdown for the hosts by scampering around his own right end for the distance on the first play. Caldwell kicked the extra point and Warwood had a 19-0 first half lead.

Late in the third period, Warwood intercepted another Chester pass at the Panther eight-yard line. Warwood added its final touchdown two plays later when Jim Sandvick went over from the four with 3:15 remaining in the stanza. The extra point attempt failed.

The Chester offense then came to life but it was too late to catch the victory-minded Warwood gridders. Chester halfback Ken Sayre returned a punt 35 yards to the Warwood 35-yard line in the fourth quarter. On first down, fullback Don Shaw burst off tackle and went all the way for the only Chester touchdown. Brookes scored the extra point on a run.

The game ended with Chester threatening again after Brookes had completed a pass which covered 40 yards in the air to end Larry Murray.

Warwood had the statistics edge over Chester in every department but passing. It led in first downs, 13 to 7, and had 201 yards rushing as compared to 140 for the Panthers.

Chester completed two of six passes for 45 yards but had two costly interceptions. Warwood netted 29 yards on its passes, completing four of five.

Third Loss For Beavers

Beaver Local Gridders Routed By United, 44-0

United High's husky Golden Eagles uncorked a six - touchdown scoring parade and crushed Beaver Local, 44-0, for their second victory of the season Saturday afternoon at the Beaver Local gridiron.

Everyone tried to get in the act as six different players scored touchdowns for the Eagles while quarterback Les Blanchard sparked the offensive attack by completing 14 of 20 passes.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's young Beavers were held to only two first downs by the heavier United eleven and were defeated for the third time this season after winning the opener.

Blanchard's tosses included two touchdown heaves and three others that were good for extra points. Two of the conversion passes were caught by Chestnut.

Wayne Ramsey opened the first quarter scoring for United by breaking loose for a 21-yard run. Jim Summer, United's 248 - pound fullback, registered on an 11-yard run and Blanchard tossed a touchdown pass covering six-yards to Russ Wood in the second quarter to give the Eagles a 24-0 halftime lead.

Halfback Jerry Marks drove over from one yard out in the third period and United punched across two more touchdowns in the fourth period on Blanchard's 11-yard pass to Ben Morgan and guard Dave Bailey's 27-yard runback of an intercepted pass thrown by Tom Taylor.

The Beavers' chances for scoring were few as the heavy United line, led by 212-pound guard, Frank Shagnot, tightened up inside United's 20-yard line.

Casey To Study Air Currents In Left Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was striding swiftly through press headquarters after Sunday's World Series game when a reporter looked up from his typewriter and exclaimed:

"Wait a minute, Case, there are some questions I want to ask you."

"Can't," said Casey. "I have an appointment."

"What appointment?"

"To study the condition of air currents in left field," Casey retorted over his shoulder.

Taking the ball at the 17, Irondale began a determined march which was to be stopped only by the clock. The running of Jim Sanders and Don Fraley, along with the passing of John Pilutti, featured the offensive.

The Irons moved for three quick first downs to the Salineville 35 where the Indians deflected three passes by Pilutti and appeared to have stopped the march. But on fourth down, Fraley went around the right side on a double reverse for another first down at the 21.

The Irons regrouped without huddle, knowing they were battled the clock, and Pilutti hit Fraley at the 15 on a pass, but they were unable to get off another play before time elapsed.

Irondale was in scoring position in every quarter but the third. However, it was not until the final drive that the offense seemed to have the necessary spark to punch a score across.

Fumbles halted two Irondale first period drives which carried to the 18 and 17-yard lines of Salineville. After taking the opening kickoff back to its own 42, Irondale penetrated to the Indians' 18 where a fumble resulted in losing possession of the ball. The Irons got the ball again at the Indians' 40 but fumbled again after driving to the 17 just before the first quarter ended.

Still another first half drive failed — this time a fumble on a fourth-down reverse at the 18 cost Irondale 10 yards and turned the ball over to Salineville.

The entire third quarter was played in the midfield area with each team getting only one first down as they concentrated on defensive tactics.

The fumble, which plagued the Irons all afternoon, was probably the result of crushing tackles by Salineville defenders.

The loss was the second for Coach Fred Sims' Irondale eleven which has won one. Salineville now has a 3-1 mark for the season.

Siebern Has No Excuses On Messing Up 4 Flies

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sprots Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Norm Siebern, at 25, is a young man with a crewcut who has completed his first full year in the majors. He also is the goat of the fourth game of the World Series, but he won't make any excuses.

Likely as not, there are no excuses to be made.

It was Siebern who messed up four balls hit to his left field position Sunday in Yankee Stadium as the Milwaukee Braves took a commanding 3-1 edge over New York with a 3-0 victory.

"I've had troubles before," said Siebern. "But never like this.

"I might have caught that ball in the seventh inning. But I didn't start quickly enough.

"I don't think I had much chance for that blooper in the fifth, but I should have caught the ball that went for a triple in the sixth. I shied away thinking maybe Mickey (Mantle) would get it. But it was my ball and I simply lost it.

"In the eighth, I lost the ball in the sun."

"It was another blunder for me."

No one could say the Yankees' deadly defeat—only the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates ever came back to win the world championship after losing three in a seven-game series—was all Siebern's fault.

The Yankees managed just two hits off Warren Spahn, who outpitched Whitey Ford a second time in this series.

Stengel defended Siebern, saying it was a tough field to play and that Siebern was a newcomer while pointing out that Siebern didn't keep the Yankees from getting hits.

Army And Notre Dame To End Current Series

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Notre Dame and Army meet for the last time in their current series Saturday and it couldn't be a more important farewell.

Both teams have set this year as the target date for a high spot in the national rankings and both, so far, have showed they mean it.

Army is ranked No. 5 in the weekly Associated Press poll and Notre Dame No. 7. No one at either Army or Notre Dame appears ready to say when — if ever — the series will be resumed.

It will prove a mighty test for Army's bazooka offense.

Army beat Penn State 26-0 Saturday, doing all its scoring in the first half. Coach Red Blaik apparrently didn't want the Irish scouts to see too much, so the wraps were placed over the Cadets in the second half.

Oklahoma, No. 1, had a scare, winning by 6-0 against Oregon, one of the top defensive clubs in the country.

This week the Sooners take on Texas, the lone undefeated team in the Southwest Conference. The Longhorns whipped Texas Tech last week.

There are a couple of potential upsets down for Saturday when Michigan State plays Pitt and Iowa goes against Indiana.

The Spartans are advertised as being the No. 1 threat to Ohio State in the Big Ten (they don't play each other). But they could do no better than a 12-12 standoff against Michigan in their last outing.

Pitt, which dearly would love to win the Eastern title, had no easy time against Minnesota (13-7). The Panthers have a rough schedule including both Army and Notre Dame. Even if they don't win, this one will toughen them up for the big ones to come.

As for Iowa, another Big Ten topnotcher and rated No. 8 in the AP poll, the Hawkeyes were held to a 13-13 tie by the Air Force Academy.

Iowa has a date with conference foe Indiana, which turned back tough West Virginia 13-12.

Auburn, ranked second to Oklahoma and the national champion last year, plays Kentucky. The Tigers whipped Chattanooga 30-8 and appear too tough for Kentucky.

Third-rated Ohio State, which had its worries with Washington, 12-7, tangles with Illinois, which lost to Duke 15-13. This, too, could be close.

California licked Washington State 34-14 in the NCAA's Television Game of the Week, and in an upset of sorts, Tennessee, in the midst of a rebuilding program trounced Mississippi State 13-8.

Fairfield-Waterford Loses Fourth, 60-6

NEW WATERFORD — The football trail grew longer here Saturday afternoon for Fairfield-Waterford's winless Rebels as visiting Springfield Local breezed to a 60-6 victory.

Led by Frank Parks who scored four touchdowns, Springfield pinned the fourth defeat of the season on Fairfield-Waterford in an Inter-County League contest.

Parks' scores included runs of 25 and 55 yards. Brothers scored Fairfield-Waterford's lone touchdown on a 6-yard run. It was the second victory of the season for the visitors.

Shaw Scoots 35 Yards For Panthers' TD

A big and determined Warwood eleven scored three touchdowns in the first half and added another in the third quarter to hand Chester its first defeat of the season, 25-7, at Wheeling Island Stadium Saturday night.

Seeking its first victory of the season, Warwood wasted little time in getting its offense in gear and completly stymied the Panthers in the first half of play, grinding out nine first downs while holding Chester to two and only 31 yards total offense.

Warwood took the opening kickoff and promptly marched 58 yards for a touchdown at 4:05 of the first period. Ron Blamey, a rangy six foot-four inch end, took a pass and went four yards for the tally. Blamey sparked the offensive, which consumed 17 plays, by snagging quick jump passes over the center for short yardage. A rushing attempt for the extra point failed.

The Panthers were then held for three plays after the touchdown and punted to the Warwood 46-yard line. On the first play from scrimmage, Warwood halfback Jack Little went off tackle and scampered 54 yards for the touchdown. The rush for the extra point again failed.

In the second quarter, Warwood intercepted an aerial thrown by quarterback Dave Brookes at the Chester 28 from where halfback Dick Lencyk scored another touchdown for the hosts by scampering around his own right end for the distance on the first play. Caldwell kicked the extra point and Warwood had a 19-0 first half lead.

Late in the third period, Warwood intercepted another Chester pass at the Panther eight-yard line. Warwood added its final touchdown two plays later when Jim Sandvick went over from the four with 3:15 remaining in the stanza. The extra point attempt failed.

The Chester offense then came to life but it was too late to catch the victory-minded Warwood gridders. Chester halfback Ken Sayre returned a punt 35 yards to the Warwood 35-yard line in the fourth quarter. On first down, fullback Don Shaw burst off tackle and went all the way for the only Chester touchdown. Brookes scored the extra point on a run.

The game ended with Chester threatening again after Brookes had completed a pass which covered 40 yards in the air to end Larry Murray.

Warwood had the statistics edge over Chester in every department but passing. It led in first downs, 13 to 7, and had 201 yards rushing as compared to 140 for the Panthers.

Chester completed two of six passes for 45 yards but had two costly interceptions. Warwood netted 29 yards on its passes, completing four of five.

Third Loss For Beavers

Beaver Local Gridders Routed By United, 44-0

United High's husky Golden Eagles uncorked a six - touchdown scoring parade and crushed Beaver Local, 44-0, for their second victory of the season Saturday afternoon at the Beaver Local gridiron.

Everyone tried to get in the act as six different players scored touchdowns for the Eagles while quarterback Les Blanchard sparked the offensive attack by completing 14 of 20 passes.

Coach Jack O'Rourke's young Beavers were held to only two first downs by the heavier United eleven and were defeated for the third time this season after winning the opener.

Blanchard's tosses included two touchdown heaves and three others that were good for extra points. Two of the conversion passes were caught by Chestnut.

Wayne Ramsey opened the first quarter scoring for United by breaking loose for a 21-yard run. Jim Summer, United's 248 - pound fullback, registered on an 11-yard run and Blanchard tossed a touchdown pass covering six-yards to Russ Wood in the second quarter to give the Eagles a 24-0 halftime lead.

Halfback Jerry Marks drove over from one yard out in the third period and United punched across two more touchdowns in the fourth period on Blanchard's 11-yard pass to Ben Morgan and guard Dave Bailey's 27-yard runback of an intercepted pass thrown by Tom Taylor.

The Beavers' chances for scoring were few as the heavy United line, led by 212-pound guard, Frank Shagnot, tightened up inside United's 20-yard line.

Casey To Study Air Currents In Left Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Yankee Manager Casey Stengel was striding swiftly through press headquarters after Sunday's World Series game when a reporter looked up from his typewriter and exclaimed:

"Wait a minute, Case, there are some questions I want to ask you."

"Can't," said Casey. "I have an appointment."

"What appointment?"

"To study the condition of air currents in left field," Casey retorted over his shoulder.

Braves Could Win World Series Today Behind Burdette

Lead By 3-1 After Spahn's 3-0 Shutout

NEW YORK (AP)—This could be it. The World Series could end today.

The once mighty New York Yankees appear ready to take the count. They've never been as "down" as they are right now. It would appear that Manager Casey Stengel would have to be a miracle man to get them up again.

The stage appeared set too. The pitcher the American League champions must get by today in order to stay alive is that old Yankee killer himself, Lew Burdette. He's beaten the Yankees four-for-four in the last two series.

The Yankees dropped their third in four games to the Braves Sunday 3-0. The loss was in the pattern of the pair they lost in Milwaukee—woeful hitting and leaky fielding.

Warren Spahn, the brilliant southpaw, held the Yankees to two hits Sunday. The day before, they managed four hits in their only winning game. Their team batting average is a microscopic .168. Their fielding percentage is a respectable .988 but it doesn't show the many mental lapses and errors of omission.

Stengel, frankly chagrined over the failure of Whitey Ford, his left handed ace, to register at least one victory in two starts, nominated Bob Turley to pitch the "must" fifth game. The fire-balling right-hander was shelled out in the first inning of the second game of the series last Thursday.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the odds-makers have declined to accept any more Milwaukee money that the Braves will win the series. For today's game, however, the Yankees were favored 13-10.

Yankee left fielder Norm Siebern was the "goat" in New York's loss Sunday. He allowed four drives to fall out of his reach, all of which appeared "catchable." These lapses figured in all the scoring and ruined an otherwise fine pitching performance by Ford.

Norm, 25, normally a good fielder, just had a bad day. The strong sun and the shadow-making third deck behind home plate didn't help him either. In the fifth, he failed to get a jump on Del Crandall's fly and it fell at his feet for a single. No damage.

In the sixth, he got over to Red Schoendienst's long fly to left center, then decided to let Mickey Mantle, who had come over, take it. Neither did. The ball rolled between them for a triple. Shortstop Tony Kubek's error of Johnny Logan's grounder scored Red with the Braves' first run.

In the seventh, after a walk and Andy Pafko's double had put Milwaukee runners on second and third with one out, Spahn blooped a fly to short left. Siebern hesitated, charged in, and stopped. The ball dropped at his feet for a run-scoring single.

In the eighth, Logan sent a routine fly to left. Siebern flipped down his sun-glasses — and lost the ball altogether. The ball hopped past him into the left field boxes for a ground rule double. Eddie Mathews followed with a double off the right field scoreboard, scoring Logan with run No. 3.

In the meantime, Spahn simply mesmerized the Yankee hitters. Mickey Mantle, with a tremendous 425-foot triple in the fourth, and Bill Skowron, with a single in the seventh, were the only batters to fathom his delivery. The 37-year-old southpaw, who called it the best game he had pitched all year, walked two and struck out seven. He appeared stronger at the finish, getting the last nine men.

TURNING POINT IN GAME. Yanks' Yogi Berra makes a desperate head-first dive toward first base but is out on a close play that marked the turning point of the fourth game of the World Series Sunday in New York. Berra hit a line drive that looked like a sure hit, but Milwaukee second baseman Red Schoendienst knocked it down and threw to Joe Adcock to get Berra at first. With Mickey Mantle on third as result of a triple, the spectacular play by Schoendienst saved a run. Action occured in the fourth inning with the score 0-0. Braves went on to win, 3-0. They Did It Last Year

Spahn Beat Yanks Twice, Now It's Burdette's Turn

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette pitched the Milwaukee Braves to a World Series championship over the New York Yankees.

Today Burdette goes out to try to wrap up another series. Spahn already has beaten the Yankees twice. Burdette is shooting for No. 2 today.

"My roommate will finish it up today," says Spahn, who pitched a magnificent two-hit shutout Sunday.

"If Spahn says so, that's right," quips Burdette.

The two Braves get their greatest delight in whipping the mighty Yankees. Next to that, they derive their pleasure from berating each other.

"Certainly we're roommates and good friends," says Spahn, "but as a result of this competition, I think we're good for each other."

In 1957 Warren and Lew set a goal for themselves—a total of 45 victories between them. Spahn won 22, Burdette 20, counting the series, so they fell three short.

Undaunted, they fixed the 1958 goal at a flat 50. For the regular season, Spahn won 22 and Burdette 20 for 42. Even should they get their four in the series they would still be four behind the mark.

"We'll up our aim next year," says Burdette.

Burdette, a tobbaco-chewing West Virginian who now lives in Sarasota Springs, Fla., is a jesting, loud-talking extrovert. He never is at a loss for words. He is quick with wise cracks.

The tall, slender Spahn, from Hartshorne, Okla., via Buffalo, N. Y., is more reserved and more subtle, but through long association he has learned to match his teammate with friendly barbs.

The two Yankee killers kid each other on their respective prowess but seldom talk about how to pitch to rival teams. "We are different style pitchers," says Spahn, probably meaning mainly they throw from different directions.

"That right-hander feller has beaten us four times and the lefty now has whipped us three times," says Casey. "I don't know which is tougher. I don't enjoy either one."

World Series Pinch Hitters Are O-For-11

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the World Series:

For all the good they've done, the series pinch-hitters could just as well have remained on the bench. None among the 12 pinch-hitters used has hit safely. Only Enos Slaughter of the Yanks reached base — on a walk in the third game.

Warren Spahn's shutout was the first by a left-hander in the series since Johnny Podres of the Dodgers beat the Yanks 2-0 in the seventh game of the 1955 classic.

After getting two hits in his first three tries in the opening game, Yogi Berra of the Yankees has gone hitless in 12 consecutive times at bat and his average has dipped to .133.

The Pittsburgh Pirates of 1925 were the only team to have won a seven-game series after dropping three of the first four games. And to accomplish the feat, the Pirates had to overcome a 7-6 Washington lead in the final contest with three runs int he eighth inning off Walter Johnson.

Hank Aaron's two hits in Sunday's game gave the Milwaukee outfielder 16 safeties in two series and an over-all percentage of .372. Included are two doubles one triple and three homers.

Shortstop Johnny Logan of the Braves has now handled 59 chances without a miscue in 1957 and has 21 so far this year.

The Yankees are batting .168 as a club. The record low for a five game series is .161 by the Philadelphia A's in 1905.

The four series games have averaged 2 hours, 43 minutes. Sunday's game was the shortest in time — 2 hours, 17 minutes while the first one was the longest — 3 hours, 9 minutes.

Emphasizing the Braves' fine team effort is the fact that they've batted in 19 runs and no player has more than three RBI's. Hank Bauer has driven in seven of New York's 12 runs.

Not Much To Second Guess In Braves 3-To-0 Victory

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There wasn't much to second guess about Milwaukee's 3-0 victory over the Yankees in the fourth game at the World Series Sunday.

There were a couple of ifs. If Norm Siebern's loose play in left field hadn't set up all three Milwaukee runs, and if Yogi Berra hadn't broken stride running to first base in the fourth, the Yankees would have taken a 1-0 lead and things might have been different.

Actually it is doubtful the Yankees would have averted defeat because of Warren Spahn's amazing pitching.

The 37-year-old southpaw yielded only two hits — a triple by Mickey Mantle and a single by Moose Skowron.

Only four Yankees reached base as Spahn pitched one of the best games of his career. In addition to the two hits, he issued two bases on balls.

He got stronger in the closing innings. After Skowron's single with one out in the seventh, Spahn retired the last eight batters, striking out three.

"He pitched an amazing game," Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said. "He was better than in the first game (of the series) and did you see those fast balls at the end? He cut down on his walks from four to two and his hits from eight to two. Amazing."

Spahn worked carefully on Skowron. The crowd of 71,563 buzzed as the count went to 3-1. Skowron swung hard at the next pitch, but missed. He fouled off the next two pitches, then tapped to Spahn for an easy out as Mantle held third.

Now came the Berra play. He hit a drive toward right that looked like a hit. Second baseman Red Schoendienst jumped as high as he could. The ball hit the thumb of the glove and landed at his feet.

Berra, thinking the ball had been caught, broke stride, then began running hard when he saw the ball fall. He dove into first base, but Schoendienst's whiplike throw just beat him. Spahn never was in danger thereafter.

Browns Blast Steelers By 45-12 Score

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Milt Plum has scored on his first big passing test and moved the Cleveland Browns to the head of the class in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

The sophomore quarterback convinced the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday he can toss a football effectively in directing the Browns to a 45-12 victory, their second league triumph. He hit on 13 of 14 aerial attempts for 197 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Adding that offensive weapon to the devastating Cleveland running attack — featured by Jim Brown who tallied three touchdowns — gives the Browns tremendous scoring punch.

There had been some doubt whether Plum, a former Penn State star, could throw well enough in the NFL to be a threat to opposition defenses.

Plum mixed his passes with the power running of Brown, who gained 129 yards on 17 carries, and the speedy outside sprints of rookie halfback Bobby Mitchell, who picked up 65 yards in eight shots.

Cleveland took advantage of Pittsburgh mistakes and jumped to a quick 21-0 lead before the first Steeler touchdown.

The Browns went 93 yards for their first score after Galen Fiss recovered a fumble by Dick Christy. Brown traveled the final 23 yards for the TD, capping the nine play march.

In the second quarter, Plum passed 21 yards to Mitchell for a touchdown after Junior Wren picked off a pass by Pittsburgh's Earl Morrall on the Steeler 42. A fumble by Dick Christy—who bobbled three times—was recovered by Cleveland lineman Jim Ray Smith who took it to the Pittsburgh 9. Two plays later, Plum's pass found Pete Brewster in the end zone for a 21-0 lead.

The Steelers then struck for their only touchdown on an 85-yard drive. The big gainer was a pass from Morrall to Jimmy Orr which covered 75 yards. Tom Tracy, former Detroit back, scored three plays later from the one.

Before the half ended, the teams traded field gaols. Lou Groza, who also kicked six straight extra points, booted a 32-yarder and Tom Miner found the range from 31 yards for the Steelers with one second left in the half.

At intermission the Browns were on top by a 24-10 count. They continued the assault with 14 points in the third quarter and a final touchdown in the last quarter. Pittsburgh's lone second half score came on a safety—reserve quarterback Jim Ninowski being tackled in the end zone by the Steelers' Ernie Stautner.

Brown, continuing the sensational pace he started a week ago against the Los Angeles Rams, rambled 59 yards for a left end run for his second touchdown. The big sophomore scored later from the three, bringing the three-quarter margin to 38-10.

Cleveland's final seven points came on Ninowski's fourth-down pass from four yards out to Preston Carpenter in the end zone.

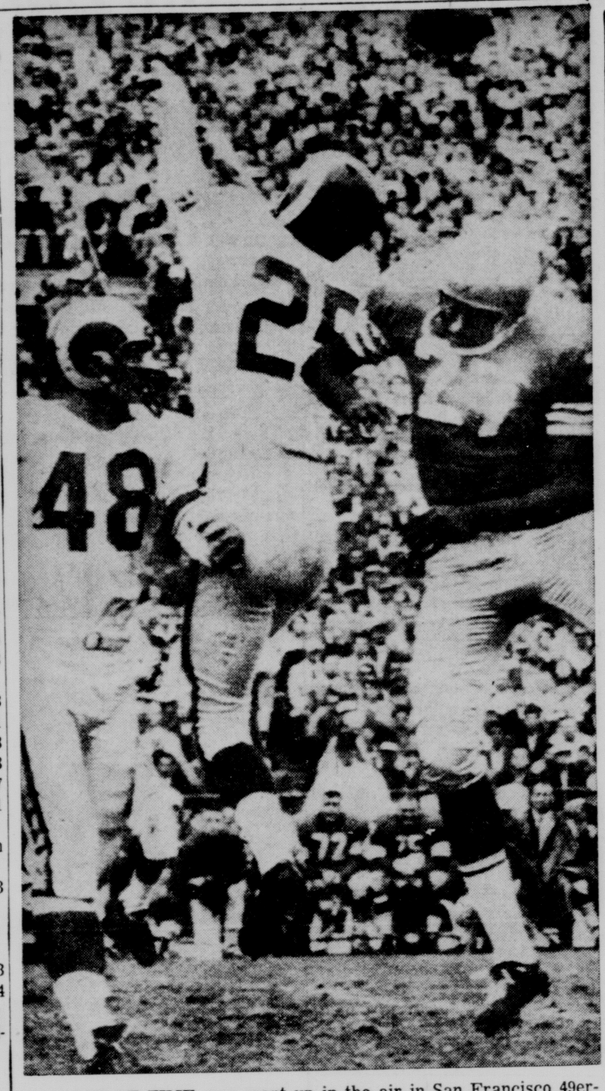
Woman Swims Catalina Channel Over And Back

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A 30-year-old Long Beach housewife has made an unprecedented round trip swim across the turbulent 22-mile Catalina Channel.

Greta Andersen, former Danish Olympic champion, said today that before the end of her 27-hour swim Sunday she became seasick and cold and was "feeling so sorry for myself I was crying."

Her next major goal is a non-stop roundtrip crossing of the English Channel.



A LOT OF TIME was spent up in the air in San Francisco 49er-Los Angeles Rams game at San Francisco Sunday, but not always for the best. Here a pass from 49er quarterback John Brodie goes incomplete as receiver R. C. Owens fails to catch the pass under pressure of Rams backs Les Richter (48) and Don Burroughs (25). (UPI Telephoto)

Clippers Play Grid Tie, 6-6

CANFIELD — Grid rivals Columbiana and Canfield battled to a 6-6 tie at Canfield last Saturday as both teams scored a touchdown in the second period and then failed on runs for the extra points.

Canfield opened the scoring when Bob Wright dashed over from the four for the touchdown. The Clippers drove back late in the period and Gary Perkins deadlocked the contest when he plunged over from the one-yard line for a touchdown.

Columbiana is now 2-1-1 for the season. The tie was the first blemish on the Canfield record as it had won its first three games.

Alert Bucks Down Huskies By 12-7 Count

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio State's big Bucks, who haven't given up the ball on a fumble or intercepted pass, have converted enemy miscues into two victories.

Saturday's 12-7 win over Washington was an example of the Buckeye alertness and ability to cash opportunities.

An intercepted pass and a blocked punt gave the Ohioans their two scoring opportunities — and they went 47 yards in seven plays for each marker.

The two drives nullified the fact the Bucks were outgained 267 to 196 yards, had only 10 first downs to Washington's 14, and were forced to punt 13 of the 16 times they had the ball. A year ago the Ohioans punted only 36 times in 10 games—but indications are that rival coaches have found a way to put a snubber on the famed ground attack.

In two games the Bucks have averaged 196 yards rushing (60 tries each contest) as compared with a 292 average a year ago. Of Ohio's 392 yards on the ground, Akron's Don Clark has an even 200 in 41 tries. That leaves 192 for the rest of the squad in 79 runs, of which fullback Bob White has 146 in 40 jaunts. The two hotshots have gained 346 of the 392.

Now that the intersectional sector of the Buckeye schedule is completed, Coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts swing into a seven-game big ten slate. Illinois, beaten 15-13 by Duke last weekend, is Saturday's foe at Champaign.

While the Bucks are traveling, the home front fans have plenty of top-flight Ohio college play on the 22-game weekend menu.

The big one sends Kent State against Miami at Oxford, with the Mid-American leadership hanging on the outcome. Saturday Kent handed Ohio U. its first setback, 14-6, while Miami was suffering its first loss, 22-8 to Xavier in a non-loop event. Kent opened with a 6-0 victory over Xavier, so the Flashes may go in as favorites over the Redskins.

Ohio teams won 7, lost 3 and tied 1 game in interstate play last weekend, and now boast 22 victories, 5 losses and 2 deadlocks against outsiders. The state schools have a 577 to 349 scoring edge.

Wittenberg, all alone at the top of the Ohio Conference with 2-0 after defeating Heidelberg 27-20 last Saturday, meets Baldwin Wallace in a non-league game Saturday—and the B-W team ran up a big 50-22 score against New Haven State.

Heidelberg, Wooster, Ohio U., Denison and Akron were dumped Saturday after winning their first two, and Cincinnati and Miami also bowed for the first time. That leaves only eight of the state's 35 teams with unblemished records, and only Hiram and Ashland without a win or tie.

Among the big games this weekend are Bowling Green at Western Michigan, and Toledo at Marchall in the Mid-American; Denison at Wooster and Heidelberg at Akron in the Ohio Conference.

Braves Could Win World Series Today Behind Burdette

Lead By 3-1 After Spahn's 3-0 Shutout

NEW YORK (AP)—This could be it. The World Series could end today.

The once mighty New York Yankees appear ready to take the count. They've never been as "down" as they are right now. It would appear that Manager Casey Stengel would have to be a miracle man to get them up again.

The stage appeared set too. The pitcher the American League champions must get by today in order to stay alive is that old Yankee killer himself, Lew Burdette. He's beaten the Yankees four-for-four in the last two series.

The Yankees dropped their third in four games to the Braves Sunday 3-0. The loss was in the pattern of the pair they lost in Milwaukee—woeful hitting and leaky fielding.

Warren Spahn, the brilliant southpaw, held the Yankees to two hits Sunday. The day before, they managed four hits in their only winning game. Their team batting average is a microscopic .168. Their fielding percentage is a respectable .988 but it doesn't show the many mental lapses and errors of omission.

Stengel, frankly chagrined over the failure of Whitey Ford, his left handed ace, to register at least one victory in two starts, nominated Bob Turley to pitch the "must" fifth game. The fire-balling right-hander was shelled out in the first inning of the second game of the series last Thursday.

It is not surprising, therefore, that the odds-makers have declined to accept any more Milwaukee money that the Braves will win the series. For today's game, however, the Yankees were favored 13-10.

Yankee left fielder Norm Siebern was the "goat" in New York's loss Sunday. He allowed four drives to fall out of his reach, all of which appeared "catchable." These lapses figured in all the scoring and ruined an otherwise fine pitching performance by Ford.

Norm, 25, normally a good fielder, just had a bad day. The strong sun and the shadow-making third deck behind home plate didn't help him either. In the fifth, he failed to get a jump on Del Crandall's fly and it fell at his feet for a single. No damage.

In the sixth, he got over to Red Schoendienst's long fly to left center, then decided to let Mickey Mantle, who had come over, take it. Neither did. The ball rolled between them for a triple. Shortstop Tony Kubek's error of Johnny Logan's grounder scored Red with the Braves' first run.

In the seventh, after a walk and Andy Pafko's double had put Milwaukee runners on second and third with one out, Spahn blooped a fly to short left. Siebern hesitated, charged in, and stopped. The ball dropped at his feet for a run-scoring single.

In the eighth, Logan sent a routine fly to left. Siebern flipped down his sun-glasses — and lost the ball altogether. The ball hopped past him into the left field boxes for a ground rule double. Eddie Mathews followed with a double off the right field scoreboard, scoring Logan with run No. 3.

In the meantime, Spahn simply mesmerized the Yankee hitters. Mickey Mantle, with a tremendous 425-foot triple in the fourth, and Bill Skowron, with a single in the seventh, were the only batters to fathom his delivery. The 37-year-old southpaw, who called it the best game he had pitched all year, walked two and struck out seven. He appeared stronger at the finish, getting the last nine men.

TURNING POINT IN GAME. Yanks' Yogi Berra makes a desperate head-first dive toward first base but is out on a close play that marked the turning point of the fourth game of the World Series Sunday in New York. Berra hit a line drive that looked like a sure hit, but Milwaukee second baseman Red Schoendienst knocked it down and threw to Joe Adcock to get Berra at first. With Mickey Mantle on third as result of a triple, the spectacular play by Schoendienst saved a run. Action occured in the fourth inning with the score 0-0. Braves went on to win, 3-0. They Did It Last Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A year ago, Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette pitched the Milwaukee Braves to a World Series championship over the New York Yankees.

Today Burdette goes out to try to wrap up another series. Spahn already has beaten the Yankees twice. Burdette is shooting for No. 2 today.

"My roommate will finish it up today," says Spahn, who pitched a magnificent two-hit shutout Sunday.

"If Spahn says so, that's right," quips Burdette.

The two Braves get their greatest delight in whipping the mighty Yankees. Next to that, they derive their pleasure from berating each other.

"Certainly we're roommates and good friends," says Spahn, "but as a result of this competition, I think we're good for each other."

In 1957 Warren and Lew set a goal for themselves—a total of 45 victories between them. Spahn won 22, Burdette 20, counting the series, so they fell three short.

Undaunted, they fixed the 1958 goal at a flat 50. For the regular season, Spahn won 22 and Burdette 20 for 42. Even should they get their four in the series they would still be four behind the mark.

"We'll up our aim next year," says Burdette.

Burdette, a tobbaco-chewing West Virginian who now lives in Sarasota Springs, Fla., is a jesting, loud-talking extrovert. He never is at a loss for words. He is quick with wise cracks.

The tall, slender Spahn, from Hartshorne, Okla., via Buffalo, N. Y., is more reserved and more subtle, but through long association he has learned to match his teammate with friendly barbs.

The two Yankee killers kid each other on their respective prowess but seldom talk about how to pitch to rival teams. "We are different style pitchers," says Spahn, probably meaning mainly they throw from different directions.

"That right-hander feller has beaten us four times and the lefty now has whipped us three times," says Casey. "I don't know which is tougher. I don't enjoy either one."

World Series Pinch Hitters Are O-For-11

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the World Series:

For all the good they've done, the series pinch-hitters could just as well have remained on the bench. None among the 12 pinch-hitters used has hit safely. Only Enos Slaughter of the Yanks reached base — on a walk in the third game.

Warren Spahn's shutout was the first by a left-hander in the series since Johnny Podres of the Dodgers beat the Yanks 2-0 in the seventh game of the 1955 classic.

After getting two hits in his first three tries in the opening game, Yogi Berra of the Yankees has gone hitless in 12 consecutive times at bat and his average has dipped to .133.

The Pittsburgh Pirates of 1925 were the only team to have won a seven-game series after dropping three of the first four games. And to accomplish the feat, the Pirates had to overcome a 7-6 Washington lead in the final contest with three runs int he eighth inning off Walter Johnson.

Hank Aaron's two hits in Sunday's game gave the Milwaukee outfielder 16 safeties in two series and an over-all percentage of .372. Included are two doubles one triple and three homers.

Shortstop Johnny Logan of the Braves has now handled 59 chances without a miscue in 1957 and has 21 so far this year.

The Yankees are batting .168 as a club. The record low for a five game series is .161 by the Philadelphia A's in 1905.

The four series games have averaged 2 hours, 43 minutes. Sunday's game was the shortest in time — 2 hours, 17 minutes while the first one was the longest — 3 hours, 9 minutes.

Emphasizing the Braves' fine team effort is the fact that they've batted in 19 runs and no player has more than three RBI's. Hank Bauer has driven in seven of New York's 12 runs.

Not Much To Second Guess In Braves 3-To-0 Victory

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—There wasn't much to second guess about Milwaukee's 3-0 victory over the Yankees in the fourth game at the World Series Sunday.

There were a couple of ifs. If Norm Siebern's loose play in left field hadn't set up all three Milwaukee runs, and if Yogi Berra hadn't broken stride running to first base in the fourth, the Yankees would have taken a 1-0 lead and things might have been different.

Actually it is doubtful the Yankees would have averted defeat because of Warren Spahn's amazing pitching.

The 37-year-old southpaw yielded only two hits — a triple by Mickey Mantle and a single by Moose Skowron.

Only four Yankees reached base as Spahn pitched one of the best games of his career. In addition to the two hits, he issued two bases on balls.

He got stronger in the closing innings. After Skowron's single with one out in the seventh, Spahn retired the last eight batters, striking out three.

"He pitched an amazing game," Yankee Manager Casey Stengel said. "He was better than in the first game (of the series) and did you see those fast balls at the end? He cut down on his walks from four to two and his hits from eight to two. Amazing."

Spahn worked carefully on Skowron. The crowd of 71,563 buzzed as the count went to 3-1. Skowron swung hard at the next pitch, but missed. He fouled off the next two pitches, then tapped to Spahn for an easy out as Mantle held third.

Now came the Berra play. He hit a drive toward right that looked like a hit. Second baseman Red Schoendienst jumped as high as he could. The ball hit the thumb of the glove and landed at his feet.

Berra, thinking the ball had been caught, broke stride, then began running hard when he saw the ball fall. He dove into first base, but Schoendienst's whiplike throw just beat him. Spahn never was in danger thereafter.

Fred Doelling set a record for a Pennsylvania sophomore in 1957 when the halfback gained 511 yards from scrimmage.

Browns Blast Steelers By 45-12 Score

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Milt Plum has scored on his first big passing test and moved the Cleveland Browns to the head of the class in the National Football League's Eastern Division.

The sophomore quarterback convinced the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday he can toss a football effectively in directing the Browns to a 45-12 victory, their second league triumph. He hit on 13 of 14 aerial attempts for 197 yards and a pair of touchdowns.

Adding that offensive weapon to the devastating Cleveland running attack — featured by Jim Brown who tallied three touchdowns — gives the Browns tremendous scoring punch.

There had been some doubt whether Plum, a former Penn State star, could throw well enough in the NFL to be a threat to opposition defenses.

Plum mixed his passes with the power running of Brown, who gained 129 yards on 17 carries, and the speedy outside sprints of rookie halfback Bobby Mitchell, who picked up 65 yards in eight shots.

Cleveland took advantage of Pittsburgh mistakes and jumped to a quick 21-0 lead before the first Steeler touchdown.

The Browns went 93 yards for their first score after Galen Fiss recovered a fumble by Dick Christy. Brown traveled the final 23 yards for the TD, capping the nine play march.

In the second quarter, Plum passed 21 yards to Mitchell for a touchdown after Junior Wren picked off a pass by Pittsburgh's Earl Morrall on the Steeler 42. A fumble by Dick Christy—who bobbled three times—was recovered by Cleveland lineman Jim Ray Smith who took it to the Pittsburgh 9. Two plays later, Plum's pass found Pete Brewster in the end zone for a 21-0 lead.

The Steelers then struck for their only touchdown on an 85-yard drive. The big gainer was a pass from Morrall to Jimmy Orr which covered 75 yards. Tom Tracy, former Detroit back, scored three plays later from the one.

Before the half ended, the teams traded field gaols. Lou Groza, who also kicked six straight extra points, booted a 32-yarder and Tom Miner found the range from 31 yards for the Steelers with one second left in the half.

At intermission the Browns were on top by a 24-10 count. They continued the assault with 14 points in the third quarter and a final touchdown in the last quarter. Pittsburgh's lone second half score came on a safety—reserve quarterback Jim Ninowski being tackled in the end zone by the Steelers' Ernie Stautner.

Brown, continuing the sensational pace he started a week ago against the Los Angeles Rams, rambled 59 yards for a left end run for his second touchdown. The big sophomore scored later from the three, bringing the three-quarter margin to 38-10.

Cleveland's final seven points came on Ninowski's fourth-down pass from four yards out to Preston Carpenter in the end zone.

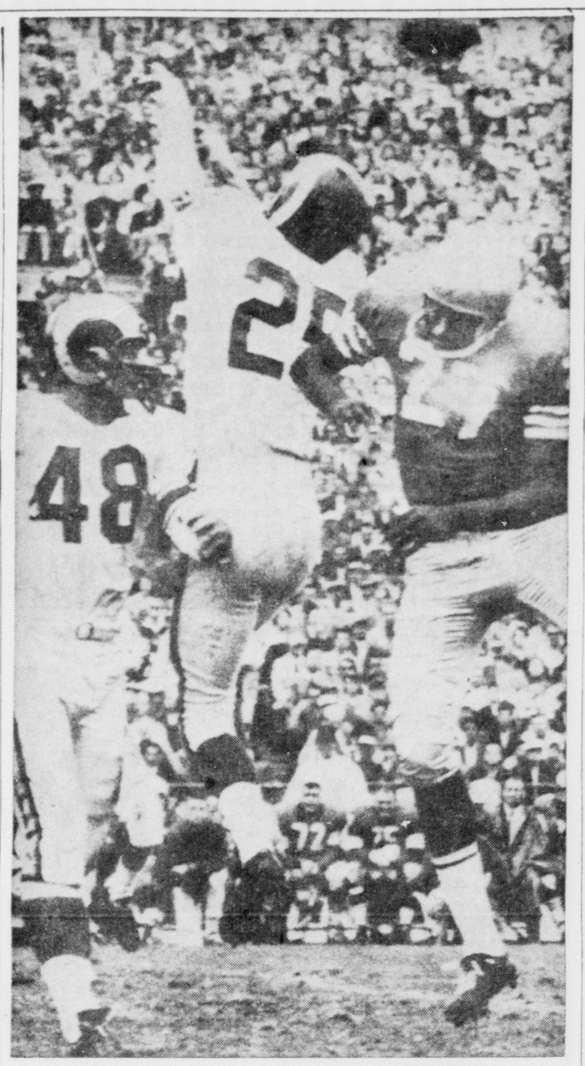
Woman Swims Catalina Channel Over And Back

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A 30-year-old Long Beach housewife has made an unprecedented round trip swim across the turbulent 22-mile Catalina Channel.

Greta Andersen, former Danish Olympic champion, said today that before the end of her 27-hour swim Sunday she became seasick and cold and was "feeling so sorry for myself I was crying."

Her next major goal is a non-stop roundtrip crossing of the English Channel.



A LOT OF TIME was spent up in the air in San Francisco 49er-Los Angeles Rams game at San Francisco Sunday, but not always for the best. Here a pass from 49er quarterback John Brodie goes incomplete as receiver R. C. Owens fails to catch the pass under pressure of Rams backs Les Richter (48) and Don Burroughs (25). (UPI Telephoto)

Alert Bucks Down Huskies By 12-7 Count

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio State's big Bucks, who haven't given up the ball on a fumble or intercepted pass, have converted enemy miscues into two victories.

Saturday's 12-7 win over Washington was an example of the Buckeye alertness and ability to cash opportunities.

An intercepted pass and a blocked punt gave the Ohioans their two scoring opportunities — and they went 47 yards in seven plays for each marker.

The two drives nullified the fact the Bucks were outgained 267 to 196 yards, had only 10 first downs to Washington's 14, and were forced to punt 13 of the 16 times they had the ball. A year ago the Ohioans punted only 36 times in 10 games—but indications are that rival coaches have found a way to put a snubber on the famed ground attack.

In two games the Bucks have averaged 196 yards rushing (60 tries each contest) as compared with a 292 average a year ago. Of Ohio's 392 yards on the ground, Akron's Don Clark has an even 200 in 41 tries. That leaves 192 for the rest of the squad in 79 runs, of which fullback Bob White has 146 in 40 jaunts. The two hotshots have gained 346 of the 392.

Now that the intersectional sector of the Buckeye schedule is completed, Coach Woody Hayes' stalwarts swing into a seven-game big ten slate. Illinois, beaten 15-13 by Duke last weekend, is Saturday's foe at Champaign.

While the Bucks are traveling, the home front fans have plenty of top-flight Ohio college play on the 22-game weekend menu.

The big one sends Kent State against Miami at Oxford, with the Mid-American leadership hanging on the outcome. Saturday Kent handed Ohio U. its first setback, 14-6, while Miami was suffering its first loss, 22-8 to Xavier in a non-loop event. Kent opened with a 6-0 victory over Xavier, so the Flashes may go in as favorites over the Redskins.

Ohio teams won 7, lost 3 and tied 1 game in interstate play last weekend, and now boast 22 victories, 5 losses and 2 deadlocks against outsiders. The state schools have a 577 to 349 scoring edge.

Wittenberg, all alone at the top of the Ohio Conference with 2-0 after defeating Heidelberg 27-20 last Saturday, meets Baldwin Wallace in a non-league game Saturday—and the B-W team ran up a big 50-22 score against New Haven State.

Heidelberg, Wooster, Ohio U., Denison and Akron were dumped Saturday after winning their first two, and Cincinnati and Miami also bowed for the first time. That leaves only eight of the state's 35 teams with unblemished records, and only Hiram and Ashland without a win or tie.

Among the big games this weekend are Bowling Green at Western Michigan, and Toledo at Marchall in the Mid-American; Denison at Wooster and Heidelberg at Akron in the Ohio Conference.

Peoples' Right To Know Emphasized

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is National Newspaper Week. And why should anybody but a bunch of newspapermen pay much attention?

There are some 2,700,000,000 people on this planet, about half of whom enjoy political freedom.

The others can neither read, speak, nor pray as and when they please. And above all, they can't go inquiring as citizens and taxpayers—and as newsmen—into the affairs of their government.

Which brings us around to the fact that even in the United States, where a knowing electorate is considered the lifeblood of democracy, there are a good many public officials—federal, state, local—who hold that public business should be conducted like a private matter, especially where newspapers are concerned.

And it brings us to the further fact there is a small group, chiefly newspapermen, fighting to preserve the peoples' right to know on the grounds that if they don't know, democracy is headed for the graveyard.

These men are members of organizations little known to the general public, such as the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., and Sigma Delta Chi, a fraternity of professional news gatherers.

Since June 9, 1955, these fighters for the right-to-know have had an ally in the House Subcommittee on Government Information headed by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif).

Just about every taxpayer complains about the high cost of government, but did you know that:

The Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, which handles billions of dollars worth of public works projects, refuses to meet in public or even disclose the votes of board members.

The International Cooperation Administration has refused to make its reports on billions of dollars worth of foreign aid projects public, or even disclose them to Congress or the General Accounting Office which by law is the watchdog over federal spending.

The Defense Department won't even let the General Accounting Office know how it is spending large sums.

The Commerce Department issued orders restricting the meeting of certain officials with congressional committees.

The State Department issued an order restricting contacts between officials and newspapermen seeking background information on foreign policy.

While there is secrecy on the federal level aplenty, it also exists on the state and local level. Boards of education and assorted state and city commissions often meet in secret to set policies and spend public funds.

Through long experience, newspaperman have come to realize that when officials make it a practice to conduct public business in private, the door is open to eventual abuses.

So this business of the public's right to know involves an almost constant struggle on many fronts.

Since World War II it often has appeared that advocates of censorship, secrecy and propaganda have been gaining.

This year the advocates of freedom of information won a major battle though the campaign is far from over.

On Aug. 12 President Eisenhower signed into law a bill aimed at eliminating needless government secrecy. It was a one-line amendment to a 169-year-old law giving department heads the right to set up regulations concerning the use and storage of records.

The original law had been twisted to mean that access to the public's records could be denied merely by regulation. The amendment forbids this. Department heads in the government opposed the measure.

There is some indication of spreading alarm over suppression of information. The University of Missouri has established a Freedom-of-Information Center to keep tabs on abridgement of the public's right to know.

In Virginia the General Assembly passed a resolution urging all agencies of government to grant full access to information.

Right-to-know bills are before the New Jersey Legislature's Judiciary Committee. California already has an open meeting law.

The fight for open meetings lost in Michigan, South Carolina and Kentucky this year but editors have organized to keep up the battle.

Editors have organized in Maine, New Hampshire and West Virginia to fight for the public's right to know. Nebraska and Missouri are launching surveys in secrecy preparatory to a drive for new laws. The Texas Legislature will get a right-to-know bill at its next session.

Florida press groups have endorsed an open meeting proposal. Nevada's editors are planning to seek right-to-know laws next year. South Dakota's editors are in the process of organizing.

Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormans, was killed by a mob at Carthage, Ill., in 1844.

Beaver Grange To Get $1,000 Contest Award

James C. Worthy, president of the Sears Roebuck Foundation, will present a $1,000 check Thursday to the North Sewickley Grange as an award in the 11th annual $60,000 National Community Service contest co-sponsored by the Foundation and the National Grange.

Five judges will spend three hours Thursday inspecting community projects which the Beaver County Grange promoted with 13,500 hours of work. The grange, one of 10 finalists, has a chance to win $10,000.

Schools in Ypsilanti, Mich., conducted a campaign to get pupils to eat celery, carrots or apples to build good teeth.

Red China Head's Son Was Killed In War

HONG KONG (AP)—The local Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported today that the son of Red Chinese boss Mao Tze-Tung was killed during the Korean War.

The paper said Mao An-ying left with the first group of Chinese "volunteers" for Korea in October 1950 and was killed one month later.

The U.S. Consulate here said this was the first time the Communist press had mentioned the death of Mao's son.

"We pray to God we will get laws passed ...to help us working people get rid of these (labor) dictators so we can govern ourselves"

—Letter to U. S. Senate McClellan Committee investigating labor racketeering, as quoted in Reader's Digest, September, 1958

Corruption-shocked citizens plead for outlawing of Hoffa-type goon squads...urge "Freedom" vote for Right to Work

"I'm sorry I can't sign my name as it may mean my life or my livelihood. We are living under a labor autocracy—graft, rackets, intimidation, goons. For fear of being bumped off . . . I'm afraid to sign my name."

—Letter from a workingman to the U.S. Senate McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"For seven years I was denied the right to belong to my local union because in 1948 I testified in favor of a bill to outlaw the union shop. I favor Right to Work because it will give the union back to its members."

—Testimony of a United Auto Worker Reader's Digest, Aug. 1958

Union membership tripled

Railroads: "The AFL-CIO charges that Right to Work laws have the effect of keeping unions from growing! But from 1934 to 1951, workers on American railroads were protected from compulsory unionism by the Railway Labor Act, and during those years most railway unions trebled in voluntary membership."

—Reader's Digest, Aug. 1958

"To say that 'right to work' laws which are limited to protecting the free choice of the citizen impair the effectiveness of labor unions would be equivalent to saying that laws controlling gangsterism might also interfere with the effectiveness of labor organizations."

—David Lawrence in N.Y. Herald Tribune, Sept. 10

"The goons got nine tenths of the rank and file scared. That's the reason they don't come to meetings. I'll face any of 'em for you, Senator. I've lived 63 years now, how much longer can I live? But for God's sake give these young men a chance to raise their families!"

—Letter from a house painter To the McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"Clean up this mess. Make it so a man has a right to work and not have to bow down to them damn Hitlers."

—Letter from a workingman to the McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"It (the use of union's members' dues for political purposes) is the denial to American citizens of their political freedom to support candidates of their choice. To permit this sort of injustice to be prevalent will result in a political as well as an economic monoply inimical to free institutions."

—Raymond Moley in Columbus Dispatch, Aug. 31

"These are not cranks addressing the Senate Committee. Many have devoted their lives to the labor movement. But they want labor leaders to be subject to the law like everybody else."

—Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"They want unions, but not the check-off or the union shop. They want union membership to be voluntary instead of compulsory . . . They want unions to be financially responsible, under law, like banks and insurance companies . . . They want the right to present grievances without danger of reprisals . . . They want self-government in unions, freedom of speech and the right to elect officers by secret ballot . . . They want action. They want legislation. They want protection. They want democracy."

—Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"I have belonged to unions in various jobs, including the beloved (?) Teamsters Union, and feel it is high time that a man can actually break ties with a union when he feels it is corrupt or incompetent."

—R. L., Cincinnati

"The decent people of Ohio want all men to have the right to work without being under duress of labor leaders. . . The union leaders make great to-do about segregation in schools. (But) they would force segregation on the people who work."

—W. W., Ripley, Ohio

"It is hard to understand how anyone could be opposed to any movement intended to safeguard his liberties of which few are left already."

—Letter from a Canton Lawyer

"I have hope now of becoming free at last, and being able to sign my name to correspondence."

—(signed) "A Captive of Unionism"

"I have no fight with labor, being a laboring person myself, but it is obvious labor has gotten too powerful for the working man's own welfare and the welfare of the nation."

—From a Farm Employee

"When a man cannot work to support himself and family without paying tribute to any organization, whether religious, political, labor, or what, then all our so-called rights rank with 'a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal'."

Secret ballot protects workers

"You are speaking out for the rank-and-file worker who is afraid to speak for himself. There are thousands of workers now displaying banners on their cars opposing this issue (Right to Work), but they will vote in its favor with their secret ballot."

—Personnel Director, Cleveland

"If workmen were not misled by their leaders, they would know that the right to join, or not to join, a union will make them freer men, and . . . they, the men who work, will have more voice in their own affairs."

—C. C. O., Youngstown

"It is definitely un-American . . . to have the worker compelled to pay tribute for the privilege of trying to earn a living. We are nearing a milestone. The next thing might be the necessity of showing a union card for the privilege of voting."

—R.G.A., Cleveland Heights

"If labor unions are so darn good, why do they have to force laborers to join their ranks? Labor has the right to organize, but they do not have the right to . . . do acts of violence and anarchy to bring about selfish desires."

—Private Citizen, West Union

"It is encouraging to find someone who isn't afraid to take on Reuther, Hoffa and their likes. I hope you can do to them what Bob Taft did when he took them on."

"This threat of withdrawal from the union (under Right to Work) might be the working man's best weapon in cleaning up a union. The labor racketeer cannot exist without union members."

—O. S., Cincinnati

"'By their fruits ye shall know them,' and the fruits of compulsory unions are the Becks, Hoffas, Dios and their ilk. I am a union man of many years, as a member not a leader. I feel that compulsory unions are Russian and have no place in America."

—Union member, Columbus

"I am elated to see you take the stand that all Americans should be FOR Right to Work. I am a life-long Democrat and a member in good standing in a union local. On account of the goons always being on the lookout to do a dissenting member some bodily harm . . . a goodly number in our local will vote for (Right to Work) but are not saying anything."

—(signed) An American Union Man

"If I take an open stand, I will be forever banned from working at my trade of pipe welder."

—M. C. D.

Peoples' Right To Know Emphasized

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is National Newspaper Week. And why should anybody but a bunch of newspapermen pay much attention?

There are some 2,700,000,000 people on this planet, about half of whom enjoy political freedom.

The others can neither read, speak, nor pray as and when they please. And above all, they can't go inquiring as citizens and taxpayers—and as newsmen—into the affairs of their government.

Which brings us around to the fact that even in the United States, where a knowing electorate is considered the lifeblood of democracy, there are a good many public officials—federal, state, local—who hold that public business should be conducted like a private matter, especially where newspapers are concerned.

And it brings us to the further fact there is a small group, chiefly newspapermen, fighting to preserve the peoples' right to know on the grounds that if they don't know, democracy is headed for the graveyard.

These men are members of organizations little known to the general public, such as the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., and Sigma Delta Chi, a fraternity of professional news gatherers.

Since June 9, 1955, these fighters for the right-to-know have had an ally in the House Subcommittee on Government Information headed by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif).

Just about every taxpayer complains about the high cost of government, but did you know that:

The Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, which handles billions of dollars worth of public works projects, refuses to meet in public or even disclose the votes of board members.

The International Cooperation Administration has refused to make its reports on billions of dollars worth of foreign aid projects public, or even disclose them to Congress or the General Accounting Office which by law is the watchdog over federal spending.

The Defense Department won't even let the General Accounting Office know how it is spending large sums.

The Commerce Department issued orders restricting the meeting of certain officials with congressional committees.

The State Department issued an order restricting contacts between officials and newspapermen seeking background information on foreign policy.

While there is secrecy on the federal level aplenty, it also exists on the state and local level. Boards of education and assorted state and city commissions often meet in secret to set policies and spend public funds.

Through long experience, newspaperman have come to realize that when officials make it a practice to conduct public business in private, the door is open to eventual abuses.

So this business of the public's right to know involves an almost constant struggle on many fronts.

Since World War II it often has appeared that advocates of censorship, secrecy and propaganda have been gaining.

This year the advocates of freedom of information won a major battle though the campaign is far from over.

On Aug. 12 President Eisenhower signed into law a bill aimed at eliminating needless government secrecy. It was a one-line amendment to a 169-year-old law giving department heads the right to set up regulations concerning the use and storage of records.

The original law had been twisted to mean that access to the public's records could be denied merely by regulation. The amendment forbids this. Department heads in the government opposed the measure.

There is some indication of spreading alarm over suppression of information. The University of Missouri has established a Freedom-of-Information Center to keep tabs on abridgement of the public's right to know.

In Virginia the General Assembly passed a resolution urging all agencies of government to grant full access to information.

Right-to-know bills are before the New Jersey Legislature's Judiciary Committee. California already has an open meeting law.

The fight for open meetings lost in Michigan, South Carolina and Kentucky this year but editors have organized to keep up the battle.

Editors have organized in Maine, New Hampshire and West Virginia to fight for the public's right to know. Nebraska and Missouri are launching surveys in secrecy preparatory to a drive for new laws. The Texas Legislature will get a right-to-know bill at its next session.

Florida press groups have endorsed an open meeting proposal. Nevada's editors are planning to seek right-to-know laws next year. South Dakota's editors are in the process of organizing.

Joseph Smith, founder of the Mormans, was killed by a mob at Carthage, Ill., in 1844.

Beaver Grange To Get $1,000 Contest Award

James C. Worthy, president of the Sears Roebuck Foundation, will present a $1,000 check Thursday to the North Sewickley Grange as an award in the 11th annual $60,000 National Community Service contest co-sponsored by the Foundation and the National Grange.

Five judges will spend three hours Thursday inspecting community projects which the Beaver County Grange promoted with 13,500 hours of work. The grange, one of 10 finalists, has a chance to win $10,000.

Schools in Ypsilanti, Mich., conducted a campaign to get pupils to eat celery, carrots or apples to build good teeth.

Red China Head's Son Was Killed In War

HONG KONG (AP)—The local Communist newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported today that the son of Red Chinese boss Mao Tze-Tung was killed during the Korean War.

The paper said Mao An-ying left with the first group of Chinese "volunteers" for Korea in October 1950 and was killed one month later.

The U.S. Consulate here said this was the first time the Communist press had mentioned the death of Mao's son.

"We pray to God we will get laws passed ...to help us working people get rid of these (labor) dictators so we can govern ourselves"

—Letter to U. S. Senate McClellan Committee investigating labor racketeering, as quoted in Reader's Digest, September, 1958

Corruption-shocked citizens plead for outlawing of Hoffa-type goon squads...urge "Freedom" vote for Right to Work

"I'm sorry I can't sign my name as it may mean my life or my livelihood. We are living under a labor autocracy—graft, rackets, intimidation, goons. For fear of being bumped off . . . I'm afraid to sign my name."

—Letter from a workingman to the U.S. Senate McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"For seven years I was denied the right to belong to my local union because in 1948 I testified in favor of a bill to outlaw the union shop. I favor Right to Work because it will give the union back to its members."

—Testimony of a United Auto Worker Reader's Digest, Aug. 1958

Union membership tripled

Railroads: "The AFL-CIO charges that Right to Work laws have the effect of keeping unions from growing! But from 1934 to 1951, workers on American railroads were protected from compulsory unionism by the Railway Labor Act, and during those years most railway unions trebled in voluntary membership."

—Reader's Digest, Aug. 1958

"To say that 'right to work' laws which are limited to protecting the free choice of the citizen impair the effectiveness of labor unions would be equivalent to saying that laws controlling gangsterism might also interfere with the effectiveness of labor organizations."

—David Lawrence in N.Y. Herald Tribune, Sept. 10

"The goons got nine tenths of the rank and file scared. That's the reason they don't come to meetings. I'll face any of 'em for you, Senator. I've lived 63 years now, how much longer can I live? But for God's sake give these young men a chance to raise their families!"

—Letter from a house painter To the McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"Clean up this mess. Make it so a man has a right to work and not have to bow down to them damn Hitlers."

—Letter from a workingman to the McClellan Committee Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"It (the use of union's members' dues for political purposes) is the denial to American citizens of their political freedom to support candidates of their choice. To permit this sort of injustice to be prevalent will result in a political as well as an economic monoply inimical to free institutions."

—Raymond Moley in Columbus Dispatch, Aug. 21

"These are not cranks addressing the Senate Committee. Many have devoted their lives to the labor movement. But they want labor leaders to be subject to the law like everybody else."

—Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"They want unions, but not the check-off or the union shop. They want union membership to be voluntary instead of compulsory . . . They want unions to be financially responsible, under law, like banks and insurance companies . . . They want the right to present grievances without danger of reprisals . . . They want self-government in unions, freedom of speech and the right to elect officers by secret ballot . . . They want action. They want legislation. They want protection. They want democracy."

—Reader's Digest, Sept. 1958

"I have belonged to unions in various jobs, including the beloved (?) Teamsters Union, and feel it is high time that a man can actually break ties with a union when he feels it is corrupt or incompetent."

—R. L., Cincinnati

"The decent people of Ohio want all men to have the right to work without being under duress of labor leaders. . . The union leaders make great to-do about segregation in schools. (But) they would force segregation on the people who work."

—W. W., Ripley, Ohio

"It is hard to understand how anyone could be opposed to any movement intended to safeguard his liberties of which few are left already."

—Letter from a Canton Lawyer

"I have hope now of becoming free at last, and being able to sign my name to correspondence."

—(signed) "A Captive of Unionism"

"I have no fight with labor, being a laboring person myself, but it is obvious labor has gotten too powerful for the working man's own welfare and the welfare of the nation."

—From a Farm Employee

"When a man cannot work to support himself and family without paying tribute to any organization, whether religious, political, labor, or what, then all our so-called rights rank with 'a sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal'."

Secret ballot protects workers

"You are speaking out for the rank-and-file worker who is afraid to speak for himself. There are thousands of workers now displaying banners on their cars opposing this issue (Right to Work), but they will vote in its favor with their secret ballot."

—Personnel Director, Cleveland

"If workmen were not misled by their leaders, they would know that the right to join, or not to join, a union will make them freer men, and . . . they, the men who work, will have more voice in their own affairs."

—C. C. O., Youngstown

"It is definitely un-American . . . to have the worker compelled to pay tribute for the privilege of trying to earn a living. We are nearing a milestone. The next thing might be the necessity of showing a union card for the privilege of voting."

—R.G.A., Cleveland Heights

"If labor unions are so darn good, why do they have to force laborers to join their ranks? Labor has the right to organize, but they do not have the right to . . . do acts of violence and anarchy to bring about selfish desires."

—Private Citizen, West Union

"It is encouraging to find someone who isn't afraid to take on Reuther, Hoffa and their likes. I hope you can do to them what Bob Taft did when he took them on."

"This threat of withdrawal from the union (under Right to Work) might be the working man's best weapon in cleaning up a union. The labor racketeer cannot exist without union members."

—O. S., Cincinnati

"'By their fruits ye shall know them,' and the fruits of compulsory unions are the Becks, Hoffas, Dios and their ilk. I am a union man of many years, as a member not a leader. I feel that compulsory unions are Russian and have no place in America."

—Union member, Columbus

"I am elated to see you take the stand that all Americans should be FOR Right to Work. I am a life-long Democrat and a member in good standing in a union local. On account of the goons always being on the lookout to do a dissenting member some bodily harm . . . a goodly number in our local will vote for (Right to Work) but are not saying anything."

—(signed) An American Union Man

"If I take an open stand, I will be forever banned from working at my trade of pipe welder."

—M. C. D.

"My money or my liberty"

"I much prefer my money being stolen to their (labor bosses) theft of my liberty."

—Out-of-work mechanic, Youngstown

"I have worked but little since last March and have no prospects of work this winter as I cannot seek work on my own due to complete control of all jobs by the union business agents."

General Motors, Electrical Union Near Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) today were reported "making progress" toward a contract settlement that would send that union's 25,000 members back to work in six GM plants.

GM and IUE negotiators met from 4 p. m. Sunday until 2 a. m. today and were to resume at 10 a. m. They also held a long Saturday sessions.

"They're making progress," a GM spokesman said today, but added: "Just how much or how near they are to a contract, I can't say."

IUE contracts usually closely follow the pattern of those between the United Auto Workers and GM. The latter two reached agreement Thursday, but most UAW members refused to return to work pending settlement of local grievances.

GM and IUE negotiators are attempting to hammer out local agreements as well as a master, national contract as they go along.

Tax Dodger Ends Fast

CINCINNATI (AP)— The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, who says he refuses to pay part of his income taxes because they go for weapons of war, said Sunday night he has ended a fast. The controversial Cincinnati pacifist said he started the fast last Sept. 26 when he was bound to the federal grand jury on a charge he failed to answer a summons for a conference with tax officials.

Distinguished Service Awards Due 4 In Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Citations for distinguished service to Ohio are going to Mrs. Ketti Frings, novelist and Pulitzer Prize-winning dramatist; Adele and Cateau De Leeuw, writers of young people's books, and John W. Haussermann Jr., composer, the Martha Kinney Cooper Ohioana Library Assn. has announced.

They will be presented Nov. 1 at the annual meeting and authors luncheon here. The library is a state-wide organization which has more than 13,000 books and brochures about Ohio or written by Ohioans.

Mrs. Frings, who dramatized Thomas Wolfe's novel "Look Homeward, Angel," and wrote "Hold Back the Dawn' and "God's Front Porch," is a native of Columbus, but now lives in Beverly Hills, Calif. She wrote several screen adaptations, including "Come Back, Little Sheba," and "The Shrike."

The De Leeuw sisters are from Hamilton and live in Plainfield, N.J. Adele has had 38 books published; Cateau 28.

Haussermann is from Cincinnati. He has written compositions for instruments and voice.

No Satellite Failures, Russian Scientist Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet scientist A. A. Blagonravov says that up to now "we have had no failures" in satellite launchings.

Plane Mishap Fatal

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Two light planes landed in a field near here Sunday after a flight to St. Charles, Ill. Mickey Sutree of Akron, Ohio, climbed out of Thomas Baker Jr.'s plane and into William Miner's. Miner, from Carrollton, Ill., took off. Baker, from Eldred, Ill., failed to clear power lines and was killed.

General Motors, Electrical Union Near Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. and the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) today were reported "making progress" toward a contract settlement that would send that union's 25,000 members back to work in six GM plants.

GM and IUE negotiators met from 4 p. m. Sunday until 2 a. m. today and were to resume at 10 a. m. They also held a long Saturday sessions.

"They're making progress," a GM spokesman said today, but added: "Just how much or how near they are to a contract, I can't say."

IUE contracts usually closely follow the pattern of those between the United Auto Workers and GM. The latter two reached agreement Thursday, but most UAW members refused to return to work pending settlement of local grievances.

GM and IUE negotiators are attempting to hammer out local agreements as well as a master, national contract as they go along.

Rock From Explosion Kills Man Behind Tree

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (AP)—Harry Shankle was advised to take cover Sunday by some workmen who were preparing an explosive charge on a pipeline construction project.

The 47-year-old Conemaugh, Pa. resident stood behind a tree some 300-feet from the scene of the impending blast.

A few minutes later a rock hurled by the explosion crashed through the branches of Shankle's refuge and hit him on the chest, killing him instantly.

Londoners Complain Of Boeing's Smoke

LONDON (AP)—America's Boeing 707, beaten by the British Comet in the race to be the first jet in commercial service across the Atlantic, ran into smoke trouble over the week end.

People living near London airport complained the giant's four underslung jet engines give off too much smoke on takeoff. Seven municipal authorities in Middlesex and Surrey Counties have sent a demand to the Ministry of Civil Aviation that Pan American must find means of reducing its smoke stream.

London Teenagers Riot During Presley's Movie

LONDON (AP) — Hundreds of teen-agers rioted here Sunday night during a showing of Elvis Presley's movie "King Creole."

The movie was stopped and police sped to the theater. They guarded every exit. Dozens of youths — many of them girls— were thrown out. Then the movie resumed.

Tax Dodger Ends Fast

CINCINNATI (AP)— The Rev. Maurice McCrackin, who says he refuses to pay part of his income taxes because they go for weapons of war, said Sunday night he has ended a fast. The controversial Cincinnati pacifist said he started the fast last Sept. 26 when he was bound to the federal grand jury on a charge he failed to answer a summons for a conference with tax officials.
